= = Route description = =

SR 745 commences at the signalized intersection between the concurrent US 33 and SR 161 and High Street in Dublin . Running north from there , the two @-@ lane state highway passes through a residential portion of the northwestern Columbus suburb . After crossing underneath a lengthy bridge that takes Interstate 270 over SR 745 , the Scioto River and SR 257 , the state route meets Emerald Parkway at a traffic signal . Now running in a north @-@ northwesterly direction , SR 745 passes through a roundabout at Brand Road , then continues on through a residential setting up to the point where it crosses from Franklin County into Delaware County .

Still within the city limits of Dublin , SR 745 makes its way up to a signalized intersection with Glick Road , just west of the O 'Shaughnessy Dam , where the Scioto River widens out into the O 'Shaughnessy Reservoir . Entering into Shawnee Hills , the state highway passes through a primarily commercial district , in parallel to the reservoir . SR 745 departs Shawnee Hills , and as it enters into rural Concord Township , it meets Harriott Drive , then crosses over a western arm of the O 'Shaughnessy Reservoir . Continuing north @-@ northwesterly , the state highway passes intersections with Cook Road and Merchant Road before arriving at a four @-@ way stop intersection with Home Road . Now passing amidst a rural backdrop with a mix of woods , farmland and occasional houses , SR 745 intersects Duffy Road and Moore Road prior to arriving at its northern terminus , a signalized intersection with US 42 and SR 257 in Concord Township . SR 257 , which crosses the Scioto River with US 42 just to the east of this junction , picks up where SR 745 leaves off heading northward from US 42 .
