New York State Route 122 (NY 122) is an east ? west state highway in northern Franklin County , New York , in the United States . The western terminus of the route is at an intersection with NY 37 in the town of Westville . Its eastern terminus is at a junction with U.S. Route 11 (US 11) in the town of Burke . Near its midpoint , NY 122 has a short overlap with NY 30 in the town of Constable . NY 122 serves as a northerly bypass of the village of Malone , situated 6 miles (10 km) to the south .

NY 122 was assigned c . 1938 as a north ? south connector between what is now NY 11B and US 11 in the nearby town of Bangor . It was extended northeast to Burke via Westville after the state acquired ownership of the Westville ? Burke highway in 1980 , and truncated to begin in Westville about 10 years later . Modern NY 122 follows what was originally designated New York State Route 188 during the 1930s .

NY 122 begins at an intersection with NY 37 in the Westville hamlet of Westville Center as an eastward continuation of County Route 19 (CR 19 , Jewett Road) . The route initially heads eastward from NY 37 as a rural , two @-@ lane road before ducking to the southeast . After an intersection with Bird Road roughly 0 @.@ 75 miles (1 @.@ 21 km) from Westville Center , it continues on a southeasterly track for 2 miles (3 @.@ 2 km) , running alongside the Salmon River before curving eastward into the town of Constable . NY 122 soon enters the hamlet of the same name , where the undeveloped surroundings give way to a stretch of residences on both sides of the highway .

In the center of Constable , NY 122 intersects NY 30 , which overlaps with NY 122 for one block on its way from Malone to the Canadian border . The highway continues east from NY 30 , serving residences in the eastern part of the hamlet before curving to the southeast and entering another rural area . The road crosses into the town of Burke at a junction with Constable ? Burke Town Line Road 3 miles (4 @.@ 8 km) east of Constable , and subsequently takes on a more pronounced southeasterly alignment . NY 122 ends 1 @.@ 5 miles (2 @.@ 4 km) later at an intersection with US 11 just west of the hamlet of Burke Center .

= = History = =

In the 1930 renumbering of state highways in New York , a north ? south highway in the town of Bangor that linked the hamlets of Bangor and North Bangor was designated as part of NY 187 , an east ? west route connecting Nicholville to North Bangor via Bangor . Farther north , an east ? west roadway between NY 10 (now NY 30) in Constable and US 11 in Burke was assigned the NY 188 designation . NY 187 was realigned c . 1937 to continue east from Bangor to Malone via modern NY 11B . Its former routing between Bangor and North Bangor was designated as NY 122 by the following year . Meanwhile , NY 188 was extended west to NY 37 in Westville c . 1932 before it was removed c . 1939 .

On April 1 , 1980 , ownership and maintenance of former NY 188 (by this point redesignated as CR 22) was transferred from Franklin County to the state of New York as part of a highway maintenance swap between the two levels of government . In return , the state transferred all of then @-@ NY 122 to Franklin County . The new Westville ? Burke state highway became part of NY 122 , which was extended north along CR 19 to Westville Center and east along former NY 188 to Burke . NY 122 was truncated between 1985 and 1993 to consist only of the state @-@ maintained part of the route between Westville and Burke .
