The entirety of SR 633 is located within the city limits of Wickliffe in Lake County . The state route begins at a signalized intersection with US 20 ( Euclid Avenue ) , and travels to the northwest from that point . It is bounded by a commercial real estate on the west side , and some small fields and woods on the east side through the Anderson Road intersection , after which commercial businesses appear on that side , as well . SR 633 then crosses a set of CSX and Norfolk Southern railroad tracks . Just after that crossing , the state highway comes to an end at a signalized intersection with Lakeland Boulevard , just three blocks southwest of a trumpet interchange that connects the SR 2 freeway with Lakeland Boulevard . Lloyd Road continues northwest after SR 633 terminates . It crosses underneath SR 2 a very short distance after the intersection . About 6 @, @ 320 vehicles travel on SR 633 on average every day . For its entire length , SR 633 is a three @-@ lane roadway , featuring one through lane in each direction plus a center @-@ turn lane .

= = History = =

The 1923 Ohio Department of Highways map shows a road running along the corridor of modern SR 2 from Cleveland to Wickliffe , then turning south along the route of Lloyd Road to US 20 in Wickliffe . This routing is designated as a state highway by the 1932 map . On the 1939 map , the northeast @-@ southwest road , now labelled as SR 2 , is extended eastward , but the Lloyd Road section is still designated as a state highway . Starting with the 1946 map , this segment is labelled SR 633 . In approximately 1963 , SR 2 is rerouted onto the Lakeland Freeway , but SR 633 's terminus remains at Lakeland Boulevard .
