NY 146B began at an intersection with NY 146 in Rexford , a small riverside hamlet in the town of Clifton Park . The route headed southeastward on Riverview Road , following the northern bank of the Mohawk River (also part of the Erie Canal) through the town . It passed to the south of the Edison Country Club and remained on the riverbank to an intersection with Grooms Road approximately 1 mile (1 @. @ 6 km) southeast of Rexford . Here , NY 146B turned eastward to follow Grooms Road to the hamlet of Groom Corners , a community based around the intersection of Grooms , Miller and Sugarhill roads . NY 146B ended at this junction ; however , Grooms Road continued eastward to a junction with U.S. Route 9 (US 9) in the town of Halfmoon .

= = History = =

On July 11 , 1916 , the state of New York let a contract for improving a series of roadways linking Groom Corners to Waite Corners by way of Rexford Flats (now Rexford) . Approximately half of the project was complete by 1920 , while the remainder was completed by 1926 . In the 1930 renumbering of state highways in New York , the portion of the Groom Corners ? Waite Corners highway from Rexford to Waite Corners became part of the new NY 146 . The remainder of the highway from Rexford to Groom Corners was designated as NY 146B , a spur route of NY 146 , c . 1932 . NY 146B remained unchanged until c . 1965 , when the designation was removed from the highway . The former routing of NY 146B is now part of CR 91 , which continues eastward on Grooms Road to meet US 9 in the town of Halfmoon . Additionally , the Riverview Road portion of old NY 146B is now part of the Mohawk Towpath Scenic Byway , a National Scenic Byway .
