

= Nelson Mandela =

Nelson Rolihlahla Mandela (/ məˈnɒdʒəl / ; 18 July 1918 ? 5 December 2013) was a South African anti @-@ apartheid revolutionary , politician , and philanthropist , who served as President of South Africa from 1994 to 1999 . He was the country 's first black chief executive , and the first elected in a fully representative democratic election . His government focused on dismantling the legacy of apartheid through tackling institutionalised racism and fostering racial reconciliation . Politically an African nationalist and democratic socialist , he served as President of the African National Congress (ANC) party from 1991 to 1997 .

A Xhosa born to the Thembu royal family , Mandela attended the University of Fort Hare and the University of the Witwatersrand , where he studied law . Living in Johannesburg , he became involved in anti @-@ colonial politics , joining the ANC and becoming a founding member of its Youth League . After the Afrikaner minority government of the National Party established apartheid ? a system of racial segregation that privileged whites ? in 1948 he rose to prominence in the ANC 's 1952 anti @-@ apartheid Defiance Campaign , was appointed President of the organisation 's Transvaal branch , and co @-@ organised the 1955 Congress of the People . Working as a lawyer , he was repeatedly arrested for seditious activities and , with the ANC leadership , was unsuccessfully prosecuted in the Treason Trial from 1956 to 1961 . Influenced by Marxism , he secretly joined the South African Communist Party (SACP) . Although initially committed to non @-@ violent protest , in association with the SACP he co @-@ founded the militant Umkhonto we Sizwe in 1961 , leading a sabotage campaign against the government . In 1962 , he was arrested , convicted of conspiracy to overthrow the state , and sentenced to life imprisonment in the Rivonia Trial .

Mandela served 27 years in prison , initially on Robben Island , and later in Pollsmoor Prison and Victor Verster Prison . Amid international pressure and growing fear of a racial civil war , President F. W. de Klerk released him in 1990 . Mandela and de Klerk negotiated an end to apartheid and organised the 1994 multiracial elections , in which Mandela led the ANC to victory and became president . Leading a broad coalition government , which promulgated a new constitution , Mandela emphasised reconciliation between the country 's racial groups and created the Truth and Reconciliation Commission to investigate past human rights abuses . While continuing with the former government 's economic liberalism , his administration introduced measures to encourage land reform , combat poverty , and expand healthcare services . Internationally , he acted as mediator in the Pan Am Flight 103 bombing trial and served as Secretary @-@ General of the Non @-@ Aligned Movement from 1998 ? 99 . Declining a second presidential term , he was succeeded by his deputy , Thabo Mbeki . Mandela became an elder statesman , focusing on charitable work in combating poverty and HIV / AIDS through the Nelson Mandela Foundation .

Mandela was a controversial figure for much of his life . Critics on the right denounced him as a communist terrorist , while those on the radical left deemed him too eager to negotiate and reconcile with apartheid 's supporters . Conversely , he gained international acclaim for his activism , having received more than 250 honours , including the Nobel Peace Prize , the U.S. Presidential Medal of Freedom , and the Soviet Lenin Peace Prize . He is held in deep respect within South Africa , where he is often referred to by his Xhosa clan name , Madiba , or as Tata (" Father ") , and described as the " Father of the Nation " .

= = Early life = =

= = = Childhood : 1918 ? 34 = = =

Mandela was born on 18 July 1918 in the village of Mvezo in Umtata , then a part of South Africa 's Cape Province . Given the forename Rolihlahla , a Xhosa term colloquially meaning " troublemaker " , in later years he became known by his clan name , Madiba . His patrilineal great @-@ grandfather , Ngubengcuka , was king of the Thembu people in the Transkeian Territories of South Africa 's modern Eastern Cape province . One of Ngubengcuka 's sons , named Mandela , became Nelson 's grandfather and the source of his surname . Because Mandela was only the king 's child by a wife of the Ixhiba clan , a so @-@ called " Left @-@ Hand House " , the descendants of his cadet branch of the royal family were morganatic , ineligible to inherit the throne but recognised as hereditary royal councillors . His father , Gadla Henry Mphakanyiswa , was a local chief and councillor to the monarch ; he was appointed to the position in 1915 , after his predecessor was accused of corruption by a governing white magistrate . In 1926 , Gadla was also sacked for corruption , but Nelson was told that his father had lost his job for standing up to the magistrate 's unreasonable demands . A devotee of the god Qamata , Gadla was a polygamist , having four wives , four sons and nine daughters , who lived in different villages . Nelson 's mother was Gadla 's third wife , Nosekeni Fanny , who was daughter of Nkedama of the Right Hand House and a member of the amaMpemvu clan of Xhosa .

Later stating that his early life was dominated by traditional Thembu custom and taboo , Mandela grew up with two sisters in his mother 's kraal in the village of Qunu , where he tended herds as a cattle @-@ boy , spending much time outside with other boys . Both his parents were illiterate , but being a devout Christian , his mother sent him to a local Methodist school when he was about seven . Baptised a Methodist , Mandela was given the English forename of " Nelson " by his teacher . When Mandela was about nine , his father came to stay at Qunu , where he died of an undiagnosed ailment which Mandela believed to be lung disease . Feeling " cut adrift " , he later said that he inherited his father 's " proud rebelliousness " and " stubborn sense of fairness " .

Mandela 's mother took him to the " Great Place " palace at Mqhekezweni , where he was entrusted under the guardianship of Thembu regent , Chief Jongintaba Dalindyebo . Although he did not see his mother again for many years , Mandela felt that Jongintaba and his wife Noengland treated him as their own child , raising him alongside their son , Justice , and daughter , Nomafu . As Mandela attended church services every Sunday with his guardians , Christianity became a significant part of his life . He attended a Methodist mission school located next to the palace , studying English , Xhosa , history and geography . He developed a love of African history , listening to the tales told by elderly visitors to the palace , and became influenced by the anti @-@ imperialist rhetoric of the visiting Chief Joyi . At the time he nevertheless considered the European colonialists not as oppressors but as benefactors who had brought education and other benefits to southern Africa . Aged 16 , he , Justice and several other boys travelled to Tyhalarha to undergo the circumcision ritual that symbolically marked their transition from boys to men ; the rite over , he was given the name Dalibunga .

= = = Clarkebury , Healdtown , and Fort Hare : 1934 ? 40 = = =

Intending to gain skills needed to become a privy councillor for the Thembu royal house , Mandela began his secondary education at Clarkebury Methodist High School , Engcobo , a Western @-@ style institution that was the largest school for black Africans in Thembuland . Made to socialise with other students on an equal basis , he claimed that he lost his " stuck up " attitude , becoming best friends with a girl for the first time ; he began playing sports and developed his lifelong love of gardening . Completing his Junior Certificate in two years , in 1937 he moved to Healdtown , the Methodist college in Fort Beaufort attended by most Thembu royalty , including Justice . The headmaster emphasised the superiority of English culture and government , but Mandela became increasingly interested in native African culture , making his first non @-@ Xhosa friend , a Sotho language @-@ speaker , and coming under the influence of one of his favourite teachers , a Xhosa who broke taboo by marrying a Sotho . Spending much of his spare time long @-@ distance running and boxing , in his second year Mandela became a prefect .

With Jongintaba 's backing , Mandela began work on a Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree at the University of Fort Hare , an elite black institution in Alice , Eastern Cape , with around 150 students . There he studied English , anthropology , politics , native administration , and Roman Dutch law in his first year , desiring to become an interpreter or clerk in the Native Affairs Department . Mandela stayed in the Wesley House dormitory , befriending his own kinsman , K. D. Matanzima , as well as Oliver Tambo , who became a close friend and comrade for decades to come . Continuing his interest in sport , Mandela took up ballroom dancing , performed in a drama society play about Abraham Lincoln , and gave Bible classes in the local community as part of the Student Christian Association . Although having friends connected to the African National Congress (ANC) and the anti @-@ imperialist movement who wanted South Africa to be independent of the British Empire , Mandela avoided any involvement , and became a vocal supporter of the British war effort when the Second World War broke out . Helping found a first @-@ year students ' house committee which challenged the dominance of the second @-@ years , at the end of his first year he became involved in a Students ' Representative Council (SRC) boycott against the quality of food , for which he was temporarily suspended from the university ; he left without receiving a degree .

= = = Arriving in Johannesburg : 1941 ? 43 = = =

Returning to Mqhekezweni in December 1940 , Mandela found that Jongintaba had arranged marriages for him and Justice ; dismayed , they fled to Johannesburg via Queenstown , arriving in April 1941 . Mandela found work as a night watchman at Crown Mines , his " first sight of South African capitalism in action " , but was fired when the induna (headman) discovered that he was a runaway . Staying with a cousin in George Goch Township , Mandela was introduced to realtor and ANC activist Walter Sisulu , who secured him a job as an articled clerk at law firm Witkin , Sidelsky and Eidelman . The company was run by a liberal Jew , Lazar Sidelsky , who was sympathetic to the ANC 's cause . At the firm , Mandela befriended Gaur Radebe , a Xhosa member of the ANC and Communist Party , as well as Nat Bregman , a Jewish communist who became his first white friend . Attending communist talks and parties , Mandela was impressed that Europeans , Africans , Indians and Coloureds were mixing as equals . He later stated that he did not join the Party because its atheism conflicted with his Christian faith , and because he saw the South African struggle as being racially @-@ based rather than class warfare . Continuing his higher education , Mandela signed up to a University of South Africa correspondence course , working on his bachelor 's degree at night .

Earning a small wage , Mandela rented a room in the house of the Xhoma family in the Alexandra township ; despite being rife with poverty , crime and pollution , Alexandra always remained a special place for him . Although embarrassed by his poverty , he briefly courted a Swazi woman before unsuccessfully courting his landlord 's daughter . In order to save money and be closer to downtown Johannesburg , Mandela moved into the compound of the Witwatersrand Native Labour Association , living among miners of various tribes ; as the compound was visited by various chiefs , he once met the Queen Regent of Basutoland . In late 1941 , Jongintaba visited , forgiving Mandela for running away . On returning to Thembuland , the regent died in winter 1942 ; Mandela and Justice arrived a day late for the funeral . After passing his BA exams in early 1943 , Mandela returned to Johannesburg to follow a political path as a lawyer rather than become a privy councillor in Thembuland . He later stated that he experienced no epiphany , but that he " simply found [himself] doing so , and could not do otherwise . "

= = = Law studies and the ANC Youth League : 1943 ? 49 = = =

Mandela began studying law at the University of the Witwatersrand , where he was the only black African student in the faculty . Although facing racism from some , he befriended liberal and communist European , Jewish , and Indian students , among them Joe Slovo and Ruth First . Becoming increasingly politicised , in August 1943 Mandela marched in support of a successful bus boycott to reverse fare rises . Joining the ANC , he was increasingly influenced by Sisulu , spending much time with other activists at Sisulu 's Orlando house , including old friend Oliver Tambo . In 1943 , Mandela met Anton Lembede , an ANC member affiliated with the Africanist branch of African nationalism , which was virulently opposed to a racially united front against colonialism and imperialism or to an alliance with the communists . Despite his friendships with non @-@ blacks and communists , Mandela embraced Lembede 's views , believing that black Africans should be entirely independent in their struggle for political self @-@ determination . Deciding on the need for a youth wing to mass @-@ mobilise Africans in opposition to their subjugation , Mandela was among a delegation that approached ANC President Alfred Bitini Xuma on the subject at his home in Sophiatown ; the African National Congress Youth League (ANCYL) was founded on Easter Sunday 1944 in the Bantu Men 's Social Centre , with Lembede as President and Mandela as a member of its executive committee .

At Sisulu 's house , Mandela met Evelyn Mase , a trainee nurse and ANC activist from Engcobo , Transkei . Entering a relationship and marrying in October 1944 , they initially lived with her relatives until moving in to a rented house in the township of Orlando in early 1946 . Their first child , Madiba " Thembi " Thembekile , was born in February 1945 ; a daughter , Makaziwe , was born in 1947 but died of meningitis nine months later . Mandela enjoyed home life , welcoming his mother and his sister , Leabie , to stay with him . In early 1947 , his three years of articles ended at Witkin , Sidelsky and Eidelman , and he decided to become a full @-@ time student , subsisting on loans from the Bantu Welfare Trust .

In July 1947 , Mandela rushed Lembede , who was ill , to hospital , where he died ; he was succeeded as ANCYL president by the more moderate Peter Mda , who agreed to co @-@ operate with communists and non @-@ blacks , appointing Mandela ANCYL secretary . Mandela disagreed with Mda 's approach , in December 1947 supporting an unsuccessful measure to expel communists from the ANCYL , considering their ideology un @-@ African . In 1947 , Mandela was elected to the executive committee of the ANC 's Transvaal Province branch , serving under regional president C. S. Ramohanoe . When Ramohanoe acted against the wishes of the committee by co @-@ operating with Indians and communists , Mandela was one of those who forced his resignation .

In the South African general election , 1948 , in which only whites were permitted to vote , the Afrikaner @-@ dominated Herenigde Nasionale Party under Daniel François Malan took power , soon uniting with the Afrikaner Party to form the National Party . Openly racist , the party codified and expanded racial segregation with the new apartheid legislation . Gaining increasing influence in the ANC , Mandela and his cadres began advocating direct action against apartheid , such as boycotts and strikes , influenced by the tactics already employed by South Africa 's Indian community . Xuma did not support these measures and was removed from the presidency in a vote of no confidence , replaced by James Moroka and a more militant executive containing Sisulu , Mda , Tambo , and Godfrey Pitje . Mandela later related that " [he and his colleagues] had [...] guided the ANC to a more radical and revolutionary path . " Having devoted his time to politics , Mandela failed his final year at Witwatersrand three times ; he was ultimately denied his degree in December 1949 .

= = = Defiance Campaign and Transvaal ANC Presidency : 1950 ? 54 = = =

Mandela took Xuma 's place on the ANC national executive in March 1950 , and that same year was elected national president of the ANCYL . In March , the Defend Free Speech Convention was held in Johannesburg , bringing together African , Indian , and communist activists to call a May Day general strike in protest against apartheid and white minority rule . Mandela opposed the strike because it was multi @-@ racial and not ANC @-@ led , but a majority of black workers took part , resulting in increased police repression and the introduction of the Suppression of Communism Act , 1950 , affecting the actions of all protest groups . At the ANC national conference of December 1951 , he continued arguing against a racially united front , but was outvoted .

Thenceforth , Mandela rejected Lembede 's Africanist beliefs and embraced the idea of a multi @-@ racial front against apartheid . Influenced by friends like Moses Kotane and by the Soviet Union 's support for wars of independence , his mistrust of communism broke down and he began reading literature by Marxists like Karl Marx , Vladimir Lenin , and Mao Zedong , eventually embracing the Marxist philosophy of dialectical materialism . Commenting on communism , he later stated that he " found [himself] strongly drawn to the idea of a classless society which , to [his] mind , was similar to traditional African culture where life was shared and communal . " In April 1952 , Mandela began work at the H.M. Basner law firm , which was owned by a communist , although his increasing commitment to work and activism meant he spent less time with his family .

In 1952 , the ANC began preparation for a joint Defiance Campaign against apartheid with Indian and communist groups , founding a National Voluntary Board to recruit volunteers . The campaign was designed to follow the path of nonviolent resistance influenced by Mahatma Gandhi ; some supported this for ethical reasons , but Mandela instead considered it pragmatic . At a Durban rally on 22 June , Mandela addressed an assembled crowd of 10 000 , initiating the campaign protests , for which he was arrested and briefly interned in Marshall Square prison . The events of the campaign resulted in Mandela establishing himself as one of the best known black political figures in South Africa . With further protests , the ANC 's membership grew from 20 000 to 100 000 ; the government responded with mass arrests and introduced the Public Safety Act , 1953 to permit martial law . In May , authorities banned Transvaal ANC President J. B. Marks from making public appearances ; unable to maintain his position , he recommended Mandela as his successor . Although Africanists opposed his candidacy , Mandela was elected regional president in October .

In July 1952 , Mandela was arrested under the Suppression of Communism Act and stood trial as one of the 21 accused ? among them Moroka , Sisulu , and Yusuf Dadoo ? in Johannesburg . Found guilty of " statutory communism " , a term that the government used to describe most opposition to apartheid , their sentence of nine months ' hard labour was suspended for two years . In December , Mandela was given a six month ban from attending meetings or talking to more than one individual at a time , making his Transvaal ANC presidency impractical , and during this period the Defiance Campaign petered out . In September 1953 , Andrew Kunene read out Mandela 's " No Easy Walk to Freedom " speech at a Transvaal ANC meeting ; the title was taken from a quote by Indian independence leader Jawaharlal Nehru , a seminal influence on Mandela 's thought . The speech laid out a contingency plan for a scenario in which the ANC was banned . This Mandela Plan , or M Plan , involved dividing the organisation into a cell structure with a more centralised leadership .

Mandela obtained work as an attorney for the firm Terblanche and Briggish , before moving to the liberal run Helman and Michel , passing qualification exams to become a full fledged attorney . In August 1953 , Mandela and Tambo opened their own law firm , Mandela and Tambo , operating in downtown Johannesburg . The only African run law firm in the country , it was popular with aggrieved blacks , often dealing with cases of police brutality . Disliked by the authorities , the firm was forced to relocate to a remote location after their office permit was removed under the Group Areas Act ; as a result , their custom dwindled . As a lawyer of aristocratic heritage , Mandela was part of Johannesburg 's elite black middle class , and accorded much respect as a result from the black community . Although a second daughter , Makaziwe Phumia , was born in May 1954 , Mandela 's relationship with Evelyn became strained , and she accused him of adultery . Claims have emerged that he was having affairs with ANC member Lillian Ngoyi and secretary Ruth Mompati ; various individuals close to Mandela in this period have stated that the latter bore him a child . Disgusted by her son 's behaviour , Nosekeni returned to Transkei , while Evelyn embraced the Jehovah 's Witnesses and rejected Mandela 's preoccupation with politics .

== Congress of the People and the Treason Trial : 1955 ? 61 ==

After taking part in the unsuccessful protest to prevent the forced relocation of all black people from the Sophiatown suburb of Johannesburg in February 1955 , Mandela concluded that violent action would prove necessary to end apartheid and white minority rule . He advised Sisulu to request weaponry from the People 's Republic of China , but though the Chinese government supported the anti apartheid struggle , they believed the movement insufficiently prepared for guerilla warfare . With the involvement of the South African Indian Congress , the Coloured People 's Congress , the South African Congress of Trade Unions and the Congress of Democrats , the ANC planned a Congress of the People , calling on all South Africans to send in proposals for a post @-@ apartheid era . Based on the responses , a Freedom Charter was drafted by Rusty Bernstein , calling for the creation of a democratic , non @-@ racist state with the nationalisation of major industry . When the charter was adopted at a June 1955 conference in Kliptown , attended by 3 @,@ 000 delegates , police cracked down on the event , but it remained a key part of Mandela 's ideology .

Following the end of a second ban in September 1955 , Mandela went on a working holiday to Transkei to discuss the implications of the Bantu Authorities Act , 1951 with local tribal leaders , also visiting his mother and Noengland before proceeding to Cape Town . In March 1956 he received his third ban on public appearances , restricting him to Johannesburg for five years , but he often defied it . Mandela 's marriage broke down as Evelyn left him , taking their children to live with her brother . Initiating divorce proceedings in May 1956 , she claimed that Mandela had physically abused her ; he denied the allegations , and fought for custody of their children . She withdrew her petition of separation in November , but Mandela filed for divorce in January 1958 ; the divorce was finalised in March , with the children placed in Evelyn 's care . During the divorce proceedings , he began courting and politicising a social worker , Winnie Madikizela , whom he married in Bizana in June 1958 . She later became involved in ANC activities , spending several weeks in prison . Together they had two children : Zenani , born in February 1959 , and Zindziswa , born in December 1960 .

In December 1956 , Mandela was arrested alongside most of the ANC national executive , accused of " high treason " against the state . Held in Johannesburg Prison amid mass protests , they underwent a preparatory examination before being granted bail . The defence 's refutation began in January 1957 , overseen by defence lawyer Vernon Berrangé , and continued until adjourning in September . In January 1958 , Oswald Pirow was appointed to prosecute the case , and in February the judge ruled that there was " sufficient reason " for the defendants to go on trial in the Transvaal Supreme Court . The formal Treason Trial began in Pretoria in August 1958 , with the defendants successfully applying to have the three judges ? all linked to the governing National Party ? replaced . In August , one charge was dropped , and in October the prosecution withdrew its indictment , submitting a reformulated version in November which argued that the ANC leadership committed high treason by advocating violent revolution , a charge the defendants denied .

In April 1959 , Africanists dissatisfied with the ANC 's united front approach founded the Pan @-@ Africanist Congress (PAC) ; Mandela disagreed with the group 's racially exclusionary views , describing them as " immature " and " naïve " . Both parties took part in an anti @-@ pass campaign in early 1960 , in which Africans burned the passes that they were legally obliged to carry . One of the PAC @-@ organised demonstrations was fired upon by police , resulting in the deaths of 69 protesters in the Sharpeville massacre . The incident brought international condemnation of the government and resulted in rioting throughout South Africa , with Mandela publicly burning his pass in solidarity .

Responding to the unrest , the government implemented state of emergency measures , declaring martial law and banning the ANC and PAC , while in March they arrested Mandela and other activists , imprisoning them for five months without charge in the unsanitary conditions of the Pretoria Local prison . Imprisonment caused problems for Mandela and his co @-@ defendants in the Treason Trial ; their lawyers could not reach them , and so it was decided that the lawyers would withdraw in protest until the accused were freed from prison when the state of emergency was lifted in late August 1960 . Over the following months , Mandela used his free time to organise an All @-@ In African Conference near Pietermaritzburg , Natal , in March 1961 , at which 1 @,@ 400 anti @-@ apartheid delegates met , agreeing on a stay @-@ at @-@ home strike to mark 31 May , the day South Africa became a republic . On 29 March 1961 , six years after the Treason Trial began , the judges produced a verdict of not guilty , claiming that there was insufficient evidence to convict the accused of " high treason " , for they had advocated neither communism nor violent revolution ; the outcome embarrassed the government .

= = = MK , the SACP , and African tour : 1961 ? 62 = = =

Disguised as a chauffeur , Mandela travelled the country incognito , organising the ANC 's new cell structure and the planned mass stay @-@ at @-@ home strike . Referred to as the " Black Pimpernel " in the press ? a reference to Emma Orczy 's 1905 novel The Scarlet Pimpernel ? a warrant for his arrest was put out by the police . Mandela held secret meetings with reporters , and after the government failed to prevent the strike , he warned them that many anti @-@ apartheid activists would soon resort to violence through groups like the PAC 's Poqo . He believed that the ANC should form an armed group to channel some of this violence in a controlled direction , convincing both ANC leader Albert Luthuli ? who was morally opposed to violence ? and allied activist groups of its necessity .

Inspired by the actions of Fidel Castro 's 26th of July Movement in the Cuban Revolution , in 1961 Mandela , Sisulu , and Slovo co @-@ founded Umkhonto we Sizwe (" Spear of the Nation " , abbreviated MK) . Becoming chairman of the militant group , Mandela gained ideas from Marxist literature on guerilla warfare by Mao and Che Guevara as well as from the military theorist Carl von Clausewitz . Although initially declared officially separate from the ANC so as not to taint the latter 's reputation , it later became widely recognised that MK was the party 's armed wing . Most early MK members were white communists who were able to hide Mandela in their homes ; after hiding in communist Wolfie Kodesh 's flat in Berea , Mandela moved to the communist @-@ owned Liliesleaf Farm in Rivonia , there joined by Raymond Mhlaba , Slovo , and Bernstein , who put together the MK constitution . Although in later life Mandela denied ever being a member of the Communist Party , historical research published in 2011 strongly suggested that he had joined in the late 1950s or early 1960s . This was confirmed by both the SACP and the ANC after Mandela 's death . According to the SACP , he was not only a member of the party , but also served on its Central Committee , but later denied it for political reasons .

Operating through a cell structure , MK planned to carry out acts of sabotage that would exert maximum pressure on the government with minimum casualties ; they sought to bomb military installations , power plants , telephone lines , and transport links at night , when civilians were not present . Mandela stated that they chose sabotage because it was the least harmful action , did not involve killing , and offered the best hope for racial reconciliation afterwards ; he nevertheless acknowledged that should this have failed then guerrilla warfare might have been necessary . Soon after ANC leader Luthuli was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize , MK publicly announced its existence with 57 bombings on Dingane 's Day (16 December) 1961 , followed by further attacks on New Year 's Eve .

The ANC decided to send Mandela as a delegate to the February 1962 Pan @-@ African Freedom Movement for East , Central and Southern Africa (PAFMECSA) meeting in Addis Ababa , Ethiopia . Leaving South Africa in secret via Bechuanaland , on his way Mandela visited Tanganyika and met with its president , Julius Nyerere . Arriving in Ethiopia , Mandela met with Emperor Haile Selassie I , and gave his speech after Selassie 's at the conference . After the symposium , he travelled to Cairo , Egypt , admiring the political reforms of President Gamal Abdel Nasser , and then went to Tunis , Tunisia , where President Habib Bourguiba gave him £ 5 @,@ 000 for weaponry . He proceeded to Morocco , Mali , Guinea , Sierra Leone , Liberia , and Senegal , receiving funds from Liberian President William Tubman and Guinean President Ahmed Sékou Touré . Leaving Africa for London , England , he met anti @-@ apartheid activists , reporters , and prominent politicians . Returning to Ethiopia , he began a six @-@ month course in guerrilla warfare , but completed only two months before being recalled to South Africa .

= = Arrest and Rivonia trial : 1962 ? 64 = =

On 5 August 1962 , police captured Mandela along with fellow activist Cecil Williams near Howick . Various rumours have circulated suggesting that the authorities were tipped off with regard to Mandela 's whereabouts , although Mandela himself gave these little credence . One idea was that his location had been revealed to South African police by the United States ' Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), which feared that Mandela was a communist ; this claim later received support from an ex @-@ U.S. diplomat who claimed involvement in the operation . Jailed in Johannesburg 's Marshall Square prison , Mandela was charged with inciting workers ' strikes and leaving the country without permission . Representing himself with Slovo as legal advisor , Mandela intended to use the trial to showcase " the ANC 's moral opposition to racism " while supporters demonstrated outside the court . Moved to Pretoria , where Winnie could visit him , in his cell he began correspondence studies for a Bachelor of Laws (LLB) degree from the University of London . His hearing began in October , but he disrupted proceedings by wearing a traditional kaross , refusing to call any witnesses , and turning his plea of mitigation into a political speech . Found guilty , he was sentenced to five years ' imprisonment ; as he left the courtroom , supporters sang " Nkosi Sikelel iAfrika " .

In July 1963 , police raided Liliesleaf Farm , arresting those they found there and uncovering paperwork documenting MK 's activities , some of which mentioned Mandela . The Rivonia Trial began at Pretoria Supreme Court in October , with Mandela and his comrades charged with four counts of sabotage and conspiracy to violently overthrow the government ; their chief prosecutor was Percy Yutar . Judge Quartus de Wet soon threw out the prosecution 's case for insufficient evidence , but Yutar reformulated the charges , presenting his new case from December until February 1964 , calling 173 witnesses and bringing thousands of documents and photographs to the trial .

Although four of the accused denied involvement with MK , Mandela and the five other accused admitted sabotage but denied that they had ever agreed to initiate guerrilla war against the government . They used the trial to highlight their political cause ; at the opening of the defence 's proceedings , Mandela gave his three @-@ hour " I Am Prepared to Die " speech . That speech ? which was inspired by Castro 's " History Will Absolve Me " ? was widely reported in the press despite official censorship . The trial gained international attention ; there were global calls for the release of the accused from the United Nations and World Peace Council , while the University of London Union voted Mandela to its presidency . On 12 June 1964 , justice De Wet found Mandela and two of his co @-@ accused guilty on all four charges ; although the prosecution had called for the death sentence to be applied , the judge instead condemned them to life imprisonment .

= = = Robben Island : 1964 ? 82 = = =

Mandela and his co @-@ accused were transferred from Pretoria to the prison on Robben Island , remaining there for the next 18 years . Isolated from non @-@ political prisoners in Section B , Mandela was imprisoned in a damp concrete cell measuring 8 feet (2 @.@ 4 m) by 7 feet (2 @.@ 1 m) , with a straw mat on which to sleep . Verbally and physically harassed by several white prison wardens , the Rivonia Trial prisoners spent their days breaking rocks into gravel , until being reassigned in January 1965 to work in a lime quarry . Mandela was initially forbidden to wear sunglasses , and the glare from the lime permanently damaged his eyesight . At night , he worked on his LLB degree , but newspapers were forbidden , and he was locked in solitary confinement on several occasions for possessing smuggled news clippings . Initially classified as the lowest grade of prisoner , Class D , he was permitted one visit and one letter every six months , although all mail was heavily censored .

The political prisoners took part in work and hunger strikes ? the latter considered largely ineffective by Mandela ? to improve prison conditions , viewing this as a microcosm of the anti @-@ apartheid struggle . ANC prisoners elected him to their four @-@ man " High Organ " along with Sisulu , Govan Mbeki , and Raymond Mhlaba , and he involved himself in a group representing all political prisoners on the island , Ulundi , through which he forged links with PAC and Yu Chi Chan Club members . Initiating the " University of Robben Island " , whereby prisoners lectured on their own areas of expertise , he debated socio @-@ political topics with his comrades .

Though attending Christian Sunday services , Mandela studied Islam . He also studied Afrikaans , hoping to build a mutual respect with the warders and convert them to his cause . Various official visitors met with Mandela , most significantly the liberal parliamentary representative Helen Suzman of the Progressive Party , who championed Mandela 's cause outside of prison . In September 1970 , he met British Labour Party MP Dennis Healey . South African Minister of Justice Jimmy Kruger visited in December 1974 , but he and Mandela did not get on . His mother visited in 1968 , dying shortly after , and his firstborn son Thembi died in a car accident the following year ; Mandela was forbidden from attending either funeral . His wife was rarely able to visit , being regularly imprisoned for political activity , and his daughters first visited in December 1975 ; Winnie got out of prison in 1977 but was forcibly settled in Brandfort , still unable to visit him .

From 1967 , prison conditions improved ; black prisoners were given trousers rather than shorts , games were permitted , and the standard of their food was raised . In 1969 , an escape plan for Mandela was developed by Gordon Bruce , but it was abandoned after the conspiracy was infiltrated by an agent of the South African Bureau of State Security (BOSS) , who hoped to see Mandela shot during the escape . In 1970 , Commander Piet Badenhorst became commanding officer . Mandela , seeing an increase in the physical and mental abuse of prisoners , complained to visiting judges , who had Badenhorst reassigned . He was replaced by Commander Willie Willemse , who developed a co -@-@ operative relationship with Mandela and was keen to improve prison standards .

By 1975 , Mandela had become a Class A prisoner , allowing greater numbers of visits and letters ; he corresponded with anti @-@ apartheid activists like Mangosuthu Buthelezi and Desmond Tutu . That year , he began his autobiography , which was smuggled to London , but remained unpublished at the time ; prison authorities discovered several pages , and his study privileges were revoked for four years . Instead , he devoted his spare time to gardening and reading until he resumed his LLB degree studies in 1980 .

By the late 1960s , Mandela 's fame had been eclipsed by Steve Biko and the Black Consciousness Movement (BCM) . Seeing the ANC as ineffectual , the BCM called for militant action , but following the Soweto uprising of 1976 , many BCM activists were imprisoned on Robben Island . Mandela tried to build a relationship with these young radicals , although he was critical of their racialism and contempt for white anti @-@ apartheid activists . Renewed international interest in his plight came in July 1978 , when he celebrated his 60th birthday . He was awarded an honorary doctorate in Lesotho , the Jawaharlal Nehru Award for International Understanding in India in 1979 , and the Freedom of the City of Glasgow , Scotland in 1981 . In March 1980 , the slogan " Free Mandela ! " was developed by journalist Percy Qoboza , sparking an international campaign that led the UN Security Council to call for his release . Despite increasing foreign pressure , the government refused , relying on its Cold War allies US President Ronald Reagan and UK Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher ; both considered Mandela 's ANC a terrorist organisation sympathetic to communism and supported its suppression .

= = = Pollsmoor Prison : 1982 ? 88 = = =

In April 1982 , Mandela was transferred to Pollsmoor Prison in Tokai , Cape Town along with senior ANC leaders Walter Sisulu , Andrew Mlangeni , Ahmed Kathrada , and Raymond Mhlaba ; they believed that they were being isolated to remove their influence on younger activists at Robben Island . Conditions at Pollsmoor were better than at Robben Island , although Mandela missed the camaraderie and scenery of the island . Getting on well with Pollsmoor 's commanding officer , Brigadier Munro , Mandela was permitted to create a roof garden , and also read voraciously and corresponded widely , now permitted 52 letters a year . He was appointed patron of the multi @-@ racial United Democratic Front (UDF) , founded to combat reforms implemented by South African President P. W. Botha . Botha 's National Party government had permitted Coloured and Indian citizens to vote for their own parliaments , which had control over education , health , and housing , but black Africans were excluded from the system ; like Mandela , the UDF saw this as an attempt to divide the anti @-@ apartheid movement on racial lines .

Violence across the country escalated , with many fearing civil war . Under pressure from an international lobby , multinational banks stopped investing in South Africa , resulting in economic stagnation . Numerous banks and Thatcher asked Botha to release Mandela ? then at the height of his international fame ? to defuse the volatile situation . Although considering Mandela a dangerous " arch @-@ Marxist " , in February 1985 Botha offered him a release from prison on condition that he " unconditionally rejected violence as a political weapon " . Mandela spurned the offer , releasing a statement through his daughter Zindzi stating , " What freedom am I being offered while the organisation of the people [ANC] remains banned ? Only free men can negotiate . A prisoner cannot enter into contracts . "

In 1985 , Mandela underwent surgery on an enlarged prostate gland , before being given new solitary quarters on the ground floor . He was met by " seven eminent persons " , an international delegation sent to negotiate a settlement , but Botha 's government refused to co @-@ operate , in June calling a state of emergency and initiating a police crackdown on unrest . The anti @-@ apartheid resistance fought back , with the ANC committing 231 attacks in 1986 and 235 in 1987 . The violence escalated as the government used the army and police to combat the resistance , and provided covert support for vigilante groups and the Zulu nationalist movement Inkatha , which was involved in an increasingly violent struggle with the ANC . Mandela requested talks with Botha but was denied , instead secretly meeting with Minister of Justice Kobie Coetsee in 1987 , having a further 11 meetings over the next three years . Coetsee organised negotiations between Mandela and a team of four government figures starting in May 1988 ; the team agreed to the release of political prisoners and the legalisation of the ANC on the condition that they permanently renounce violence , break links with the Communist Party , and not insist on majority rule . Mandela rejected these conditions , insisting that the ANC would only end its armed activities when the government renounced violence .

Mandela 's 70th birthday in July 1988 attracted international attention , notably with a tribute concert at London 's Wembley Stadium that was televised and watched by an estimated 200 million viewers . Although presented globally as a heroic figure , he faced personal problems when ANC leaders informed him that Winnie had set herself up as head of a criminal gang , the " Mandela United Football Club " , who had been responsible for torturing and killing opponents ? including children ? in Soweto . Though some encouraged him to divorce her , he decided to remain loyal until she was found guilty by trial .

= = = Victor Verster Prison and release : 1988 ? 90 = = =

Recovering from tuberculosis exacerbated by the dank conditions in his cell , in December 1988 Mandela was moved to Victor Verster Prison near Paarl . He was housed in the relative comfort of a warder 's house with a personal cook , and used the time to complete his LLB degree . While there , he was permitted many visitors and organised secret communications with exiled ANC leader Oliver Tambo .

In 1989 , Botha suffered a stroke , retaining the state presidency but stepping down as leader of the National Party , to be replaced by F. W. de Klerk . In a surprise move , Botha invited Mandela to a meeting over tea in July 1989 , an invitation Mandela considered genial . Botha was replaced as state president by de Klerk six weeks later ; the new president believed that apartheid was unsustainable and released a number of ANC prisoners . Following the fall of the Berlin Wall in November 1989 , de Klerk called his cabinet together to debate legalising the ANC and freeing Mandela . Although some were deeply opposed to his plans , de Klerk met with Mandela in December to discuss the situation , a meeting both men considered friendly , before legalising all formerly banned political parties in February 1990 and announcing Mandela 's unconditional release . Shortly thereafter , for the first time in 20 years , photographs of Mandela were allowed to be published in South Africa .

Leaving Victor Verster Prison on 11 February , Mandela held Winnie 's hand in front of amassed crowds and press ; the event was broadcast live across the world . Driven to Cape Town 's City Hall through crowds , he gave a speech declaring his commitment to peace and reconciliation with the white minority , but made it clear that the ANC 's armed struggle was not over , and would continue as " a purely defensive action against the violence of apartheid " . He expressed hope that the government would agree to negotiations , so that " there may no longer be the need for the armed struggle " , and insisted that his main focus was to bring peace to the black majority and give them the right to vote in national and local elections . Staying at the home of Desmond Tutu , in the following days Mandela met with friends , activists , and press , giving a speech to an estimated 100 @, @ 000 people at Johannesburg 's Soccer City .

= = Early negotiations : 1990 ? 91 = = =

Mandela proceeded on an African tour , meeting supporters and politicians in Zambia , Zimbabwe , Namibia , Libya and Algeria , continuing to Sweden , where he was reunited with Tambo , and then London , where he appeared at the Nelson Mandela : An International Tribute for a Free South Africa concert at Wembley Stadium . Encouraging foreign countries to support sanctions against the apartheid government , in France he was welcomed by President François Mitterrand , in Vatican City by Pope John Paul II , and in the United Kingdom by Thatcher . In the United States , he met President George H.W. Bush , addressed both Houses of Congress and visited eight cities , being particularly popular among the African @-@ American community . In Cuba , he met President Castro , whom he had long admired , with the two becoming friends . He met President R. Venkataraman in India , President Suharto in Indonesia , Prime Minister Mahathir Mohamad in Malaysia , Prime Minister Bob Hawke in Australia , and visited Japan ; he did not visit the Soviet Union , a longtime ANC supporter .

In May 1990 , Mandela led a multiracial ANC delegation into preliminary negotiations with a government delegation of 11 Afrikaner men . Mandela impressed them with his discussions of Afrikaner history , and the negotiations led to the Groot Schuur Minute , in which the government lifted the state of emergency . In August , Mandela ? recognising the ANC 's severe military disadvantage ? offered a ceasefire , the Pretoria Minute , for which he was widely criticised by MK activists . He spent much time trying to unify and build the ANC , appearing at a Johannesburg conference in December attended by 1600 delegates , many of whom found him more moderate than expected . At the ANC 's July 1991 national conference in Durban , Mandela admitted the party 's faults and announced his aim to build a " strong and well @-@ oiled task force " for securing majority rule . At the conference , he was elected ANC President , replacing the ailing Tambo , and a 50 @-@ strong multiracial , mixed gendered national executive was elected .

Mandela was given an office in the newly purchased ANC headquarters at Shell House , Johannesburg , and moved into Winnie 's large Soweto home . Their marriage was increasingly strained as he learned of her affair with Dali Mpofu , but he supported her during her trial for kidnapping and assault . He gained funding for her defence from the International Defence and Aid Fund for Southern Africa and from Libyan leader Muammar Gaddafi , but in June 1991 she was found guilty and sentenced to six years in prison , reduced to two on appeal . On 13 April 1992 , Mandela publicly announced his separation from Winnie . The ANC forced her to step down from the national executive for misappropriating ANC funds ; Mandela moved into the mostly white Johannesburg suburb of Houghton . Mandela 's prospects for a peaceful transition were further damaged by an increase in " black @-@ on @-@ black " violence , particularly between ANC and Inkatha supporters in KwaZulu @-@ Natal , which resulted in thousands of deaths . Mandela met with Inkatha leader Buthelezi , but the ANC prevented further negotiations on the issue . Mandela argued that there was a " third force " within the state intelligence services fuelling the " slaughter of the people " and openly blamed de Klerk ? whom he increasingly distrusted ? for the Sebokeng massacre . In September 1991 , a national peace conference was held in Johannesburg at which Mandela , Buthelezi and de Klerk signed a peace accord , though the violence continued .

= = CODESA talks : 1991 ? 92 = = =

The Convention for a Democratic South Africa (CODESA) began in December 1991 at the Johannesburg World Trade Center , attended by 228 delegates from 19 political parties . Although Cyril Ramaphosa led the ANC 's delegation , Mandela remained a key figure , and after de Klerk used the closing speech to condemn the ANC 's violence , he took to the stage to denounce de Klerk as the " head of an illegitimate , discredited minority regime " . Dominated by the National Party and ANC , little negotiation was achieved . CODESA 2 was held in May 1992 , at which de Klerk insisted that post @-@ apartheid South Africa must use a federal system with a rotating presidency to ensure the protection of ethnic minorities ; Mandela opposed this , demanding a unitary system governed by majority rule . Following the Boipatong massacre of ANC activists by government @-@ aided Inkatha militants , Mandela called off the negotiations , before attending a meeting of the Organisation of African Unity in Senegal , at which he called for a special session of the UN Security Council and proposed that a UN peacekeeping force be stationed in South Africa to prevent " state terrorism " . Calling for domestic mass action , in August the ANC organised the largest @-@ ever strike in South African history , and supporters marched on Pretoria .

Following the Bisho massacre , in which 28 ANC supporters and one soldier were shot dead by the Ciskei Defence Force during a protest march , Mandela realised that mass action was leading to further violence and resumed negotiations in September . He agreed to do so on the conditions that all political prisoners be released , that Zulu traditional weapons be banned , and that Zulu hostels would be fenced off , the latter two measures intended to prevent further Inkatha attacks ; de Klerk reluctantly agreed . The negotiations agreed that a multiracial general election would be held , resulting in a five @-@ year coalition government of national unity and a constitutional assembly that gave the National Party continuing influence . The ANC also conceded to safeguarding the jobs of white civil servants ; such concessions brought fierce internal criticism . The duo agreed on an interim constitution based on a liberal democratic model , guaranteeing separation of powers , creating a constitutional court , and including a U.S.-style bill of rights ; it also divided the country into nine provinces , each with its own premier and civil service , a concession between de Klerk 's desire for federalism and Mandela 's for unitary government .

The democratic process was threatened by the Concerned South Africans Group (COSAG) , an alliance of far @-@ right Afrikaner parties and black ethnic @-@ secessionist groups like Inkatha ; in June 1993 , the white supremacist Afrikaner Weerstandsbeweging (AWB) attacked the Kempton Park World Trade Centre . Following the murder of ANC activist Chris Hani , Mandela made a publicised speech to calm rioting , soon after appearing at a mass funeral in Soweto for Tambo , who had died of a stroke . In July 1993 , both Mandela and de Klerk visited the US , independently meeting President Bill Clinton and each receiving the Liberty Medal . Soon after , Mandela and de Klerk were jointly awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in Norway . Influenced by Thabo Mbeki , Mandela began meeting with big business figures , and played down his support for nationalisation , fearing that he would scare away much @-@ needed foreign investment . Although criticised by socialist ANC members , he was encouraged to embrace private enterprise by members of the Chinese and Vietnamese Communist parties at the January 1992 World Economic Forum in Switzerland .

= = = General election : 1994 = = =

With the election set for 27 April 1994 , the ANC began campaigning , opening 100 election offices and orchestrating People 's Forums across the country , at which Mandela could appear , as a popular figure with great status among black South Africans . The ANC campaigned on a Reconstruction and Development Programme (RDP) to build a million houses in five years , introduce universal free education and extend access to water and electricity . The party 's slogan was " a better life for all " , although it was not explained how this development would be funded . With the exception of the Weekly Mail and the New Nation , South Africa 's press opposed Mandela 's election , fearing continued ethnic strife , instead supporting the National or Democratic Party . Mandela devoted much time to fundraising for the ANC , touring North America , Europe and Asia to meet wealthy donors , including former supporters of the apartheid regime . He also urged a reduction in the voting age from 18 to 14 ; rejected by the ANC , this policy became the subject of ridicule .

Concerned that COSAG would undermine the election , particularly in the wake of the conflict in Bophuthatswana and the Shell House Massacre ? incidents of violence involving the AWB and Inkatha , respectively ? Mandela met with Afrikaner politicians and generals , including P. W. Botha , Pik Botha and Constand Viljoen , persuading many to work within the democratic system , and with de Klerk convinced Inkatha 's Buthelezi to enter the elections rather than launch a war of secession . As leaders of the two major parties , de Klerk and Mandela appeared on a televised debate ; although de Klerk was widely considered the better speaker at the event , Mandela 's offer to shake his hand surprised him , leading some commentators to consider it a victory for Mandela . The election went ahead with little violence , although an AWB cell killed 20 with car bombs . As widely expected , the ANC won a sweeping victory , taking 63 % of the vote , just short of the two @-@ thirds majority needed to unilaterally change the constitution . The ANC was also victorious in seven provinces , with Inkatha and the National Party each taking another . Mandela voted at the Ohlange High School in Durban , and though the ANC 's victory assured his election as President , he publicly accepted that the election had been marred by instances of fraud and sabotage .

= = Presidency of South Africa : 1994 ? 99 = =

The newly elected National Assembly 's first act was to formally elect Mandela as South Africa 's first black chief executive . His inauguration took place in Pretoria on 10 May 1994 , televised to a billion viewers globally . The event was attended by 4 @,@ 000 guests , including world leaders from disparate backgrounds . Mandela headed a Government of National Unity dominated by the ANC ? which alone had no experience of governance ? but containing representatives from the National Party and Inkatha . Under the Interim Constitution , Inkatha and the National Party were entitled to seats in the government by virtue of winning at least 20 seats . In keeping with earlier agreements , both de Klerk and Thabo Mbeki were given the position of Deputy President . Although Mbeki had not been his first choice for the job , Mandela grew to rely heavily on him throughout his presidency , allowing him to organise policy details . Moving into the presidential office at Tuynhuys in Cape Town , Mandela allowed de Klerk to retain the presidential residence in the Groote Schuur estate , instead settling into the nearby Westbrooke manor , which he renamed " Genadendal " , meaning " Valley of Mercy " in Afrikaans . Retaining his Houghton home , he also had a house built in his home village of Qunu , which he visited regularly , walking around the area , meeting with locals , and judging tribal disputes .

Aged 76 , he faced various ailments , and although exhibiting continued energy , he felt isolated and lonely . He often entertained celebrities , such as Michael Jackson , Whoopi Goldberg , and the Spice Girls , and befriended ultra @-@ rich businessmen , like Harry Oppenheimer of Anglo @-@ American as well as Queen Elizabeth II on her March 1995 state visit to South Africa , resulting in strong criticism from ANC anti @-@ capitalists . Despite his opulent surroundings , Mandela lived simply , donating a third of his R 552 @,@ 000 annual income to the Nelson Mandela Children 's Fund , which he had founded in 1995 . Although dismantling press censorship , speaking out in favour of freedom of the press , and befriending many journalists , Mandela was critical of much of the country 's media , noting that it was overwhelmingly owned and run by middle @-@ class whites and believing that it focused too much on scaremongering around crime . Mandela was known to change his clothes several times a day and after assuming the presidency he became so associated with Batik shirts that they came to be known as " Madiba shirts " .

In December 1994 , Mandela published Long Walk to Freedom , an autobiography based around a manuscript he had written in prison , augmented by interviews conducted with American journalist Richard Stengel . In late 1994 , he attended the 49th conference of the ANC in Bloemfontein , at which a more militant national executive was elected , among them Winnie Mandela ; although she expressed an interest in reconciling , Nelson initiated divorce proceedings in August 1995 . By 1995 , he had entered into a relationship with Graça Machel , a Mozambican political activist 27 years his junior who was the widow of former president Samora Machel . They had first met in July 1990 when she was still in mourning , but their friendship grew into a partnership , with Machel accompanying him on many of his foreign visits . She turned down Mandela 's first marriage proposal , wanting to retain some independence and dividing her time between Mozambique and Johannesburg .

= = = National reconciliation = = =

Presiding over the transition from apartheid minority rule to a multicultural democracy , Mandela saw national reconciliation as the primary task of his presidency . Having seen other post @-@ colonial African economies damaged by the departure of white elites , Mandela worked to reassure South Africa 's white population that they were protected and represented in " the Rainbow Nation " . Although his Government of National Unity would be dominated by the ANC , he attempted to create a broad coalition by appointing de Klerk as Deputy President and appointing other National Party officials as ministers for Agriculture , Energy , Environment , and Minerals and Energy , as well as naming Buthelezi as Minister for Home Affairs . The other cabinet positions were taken by ANC members , many of whom ? like Joe Modise , Alfred Nzo , Joe Slovo , Mac Maharaj and Dullah Omar ? had long been comrades , although others , such as Tito Mboweni and Jeff Radebe , were much younger . Mandela 's relationship with de Klerk was strained ; Mandela thought that de Klerk was intentionally provocative , and de Klerk felt that he was being intentionally humiliated by the president . In January 1995 , Mandela heavily chastised him for awarding amnesty to 3 @,@ 500 police officers just before the election , and later criticised him for defending former Minister of Defence Magnus Malan when the latter was charged with murder .

Mandela personally met with senior figures of the apartheid regime , including Hendrik Verwoerd 's widow , Betsie Schoombie , and lawyer Percy Yutar , also laying a wreath by the statue of Afrikaner hero Daniel Theron . Emphasising personal forgiveness and reconciliation , he announced that " courageous people do not fear forgiving , for the sake of peace . " He encouraged black South Africans to get behind the previously hated national rugby team , the Springboks , as South Africa hosted the 1995 Rugby World Cup . After the Springboks won a celebrated final against New Zealand , Mandela presented the trophy to captain Francois Pienaar , an Afrikaner , wearing a Springbok shirt with Pienaar 's own number 6 on the back . This was widely seen as a major step in the reconciliation of white and black South Africans ; as de Klerk later put it , " Mandela won the hearts of millions of white rugby fans . " Mandela 's efforts at reconciliation assuaged the fears of whites , but also drew criticism from more militant blacks . Among the latter was his estranged wife , Winnie , who accused the ANC of being more interested in appeasing the white community than in helping the black majority .

Mandela oversaw the formation of a Truth and Reconciliation Commission to investigate crimes committed under apartheid by both the government and the ANC , appointing Desmond Tutu as its chair . To prevent the creation of martyrs , the Commission granted individual amnesties in exchange for testimony of crimes committed during the apartheid era . Dedicated in February 1996 , it held two years of hearings detailing rapes , torture , bombings , and assassinations , before issuing its final report in October 1998 . Both de Klerk and Mbeki appealed to have parts of the report suppressed , though only de Klerk 's appeal was successful . Mandela praised the Commission 's work , stating that it " had helped us move away from the past to concentrate on the present and the future " .

= = = Domestic programmes = = =

Mandela 's administration inherited a country with a huge disparity in wealth and services between white and black communities . Of a population of 40 million , around 23 million lacked electricity or adequate sanitation , and 12 million lacked clean water supplies , with 2 million children not in school and a third of the population illiterate . There was 33 % unemployment , and just under half of the population lived below the poverty line . Government financial reserves were nearly depleted , with a fifth of the national budget being spent on debt repayment , meaning that the extent of the promised Reconstruction and Development Programme (RDP) was scaled back , with none of the proposed nationalisation or job creation . In 1996 , the RDP was replaced with a new policy , Growth , Employment and Redistribution (GEAR) , which maintained South Africa 's mixed economy but placed an emphasis on economic growth through a framework of market economics and the encouragement of foreign investment ; many in the ANC derided it as a neo @-@ liberal policy that did not undermine social inequality , no matter how Mandela defended it . In adopting this approach , Mandela 's government adhered to the " Washington consensus " advocated by the World Bank and International Monetary Fund .

Under Mandela 's presidency , welfare spending increased by 13 % in 1996 / 97 , 13 % in 1997 / 98 , and 7 % in 1998 / 99 . The government introduced parity in grants for communities , including disability grants , child maintenance grants , and old @-@ age pensions , which had previously been set at different levels for South Africa 's different racial groups . In 1994 , free healthcare was introduced for children under six and pregnant women , a provision extended to all those using primary level public sector health care services in 1996 . By the 1999 election , the ANC could boast that due to their policies , 3 million people were connected to telephone lines , 1 @.@ 5 million children were brought into the education system , 500 clinics were upgraded or constructed , 2 million people were connected to the electricity grid , water access was extended to 3 million people , and 750 @,@ 000 houses were constructed , housing nearly 3 million people .

The Land Restitution Act of 1994 enabled people who had lost their property as a result of the Natives Land Act , 1913 to claim back their land , leading to the settlement of tens of thousands of land claims . The Land Reform Act 3 of 1996 safeguarded the rights of labour tenants who live and grow crops or graze livestock on farms . This legislation ensured that such tenants could not be evicted without a court order or if they were over the age of 65 . Recognising that arms manufacturing was a key industry in South Africa , Mandela endorsed the trade in weapons but brought in tighter regulations surrounding Armscor to ensure that South African weaponry was not sold to authoritarian regimes . Under Mandela 's administration , tourism was increasingly promoted , becoming a major sector of the South African economy .

Critics like Edwin Cameron accused Mandela 's government of doing little to stem the HIV / AIDS pandemic in the country ; by 1999 , 10 % of South Africa 's population were HIV positive . Mandela later admitted that he had personally neglected the issue , in part due to public reticence in discussing issues surrounding sex in South Africa , and that he had instead left the issue for Mbeki to deal with . Mandela also received criticism for failing to sufficiently combat crime , with South Africa having one of the world 's highest crime rates , and the activities of international crime syndicates in the country growing significantly throughout the decade . Mandela 's administration was also perceived as having failed to deal with the problem of corruption .

Further problems were caused by the exodus of thousands of skilled white South Africans from the country , who were escaping the increasing crime rates , higher taxes , and the impact of positive discrimination toward blacks in employment . This exodus resulted in a brain drain , with Mandela criticising those who left . At the same time , South Africa experienced an influx of millions of illegal migrants from poorer parts of Africa ; although public opinion toward these illegal immigrants was generally unfavourable , characterising them as disease @-@ spreading criminals who were a drain on resources , Mandela called on South Africans to embrace them as " brothers and sisters " .

= = = Foreign affairs = = =

Mandela expressed the view that " South Africa 's future foreign relations [should] be based on our belief that human rights should be the core of international relations " . Following the South African example , Mandela encouraged other nations to resolve conflicts through diplomacy and reconciliation . In September 1998 , Mandela was appointed Secretary @-@ General of the Non @-@ Aligned Movement , who held their annual conference in Durban . He used the event to criticise the " narrow , chauvinistic interests " of the Israeli government in stalling negotiations to end the Israeli @-@ Palestinian conflict and urged India and Pakistan to negotiate to end the Kashmir conflict , for which he was criticised by both Israel and India . Inspired by the region 's economic boom , Mandela sought greater economic relations with East Asia , in particular with Malaysia , although this was scuppered by the 1997 Asian financial crisis . He attempted to overcome the ' Two China Problem ' by extending diplomatic recognition to both the People 's Republic of China (PRC)

, who were growing as an economic force , and Taiwan , who were already longstanding investors in the South African economy . However , under pressure from the PRC , in November 1996 he cut recognition of Taiwan , and in May 1999 paid an official visit to Beijing .

Mandela attracted controversy for his close relationship with Indonesian President Suharto , whose regime was responsible for mass human rights abuses , although on a July 1997 visit to Indonesia he privately urged him to withdraw from the occupation of East Timor . He also faced similar criticism from the West for his government 's trade links to Syria , Cuba , and Libya , and for his personal friendships with Fidel Castro and Muammar Gaddafi . Castro visited in 1998 to widespread popular acclaim , and Mandela met Gaddafi in Libya to award him the Order of Good Hope . When Western governments and media criticised these visits , Mandela lambasted such criticism as having racist undertones , and stated that " the enemies of countries in the West are not our enemies . " Mandela hoped to resolve the long @-@ running dispute between Libya , and the US and Britain , over bringing to trial the two Libyans , Abdelbaset al @-@ Megrahi and Lamin Khalifah Fhimah , who were indicted in November 1991 and accused of sabotaging Pan Am Flight 103 . Mandela proposed that they be tried in a third country , which was agreed to by all parties ; governed by Scots law , the trial was held at Camp Zeist in the Netherlands in April 1999 , and found one of the two men guilty .

Mandela echoed Mbeki 's calls for an " African Renaissance " , and was greatly concerned with issues on the continent . He took a soft diplomatic approach to removing Sani Abacha 's military junta in Nigeria but later became a leading figure in calling for sanctions when Abacha 's regime increased human rights violations . In 1996 , he was appointed Chairman of the Southern African Development Community (SADC) and initiated unsuccessful negotiations to end the First Congo War in Zaire . He also played a key role as a mediator in the ethnic conflict between Tutsi and Hutu political groups in the Burundian Civil War , helping to initiate a settlement which brought increased stability to the country but did not end the ethnic violence . In South Africa 's first post @-@ apartheid military operation , in September 1998 it ordered troops into Lesotho in order to protect the government of Prime Minister Pakalitha Mosisili after a disputed election prompted opposition uprisings . The action was not authorised by Mandela himself , who was out of the country at the time , but by Buthelezi , who was serving as acting president during Mandela 's absence .

= = = Withdrawing from politics = = =

The new Constitution of South Africa was agreed upon by parliament in May 1996 , enshrining a series of institutions to check political and administrative authority within a constitutional democracy . De Klerk opposed the implementation of this constitution , and that month he and the National Party withdrew from the coalition government in protest , claiming that the ANC were not treating them as equals . The ANC took over the cabinet positions formerly held by the Nationalists , with Mbeki becoming sole Deputy President . Inkatha remained part of the coalition , and when both Mandela and Mbeki were out of the country in September 1998 , Buthelezi was appointed " Acting President " , marking an improvement in his relationship with Mandela . Although Mandela had often governed decisively in his first two years as President , he had subsequently increasingly delegated duties to Mbeki , retaining only a close personal supervision of intelligence and security measures . During a 1997 visit to London , he said that " the ruler of South Africa , the de facto ruler , is Thabo Mbeki " and that he was " shifting everything to him " .

Mandela stepped down as ANC President at the party 's December 1997 conference . He hoped that Ramaphosa would succeed him , believing Mbeki to be too inflexible and intolerant of criticism , but the ANC elected Mbeki regardless . Replacing Mbeki as Deputy President , Mandela and the Executive supported the candidacy of Jacob Zuma , a Zulu who had been imprisoned on Robben Island , but he was challenged by Winnie , whose populist rhetoric had gained her a strong following within the party ; Zuma defeated her in a landslide victory vote at the election .

Mandela 's relationship with Machel had intensified ; in February 1998 , he publicly stated that he was " in love with a remarkable lady " , and under pressure from his friend Desmond Tutu , who urged him to set an example for young people , he organised a wedding for his 80th birthday , in July that year . The following day , he held a grand party with many foreign dignitaries . Although the 1996 constitution allowed the president to serve two consecutive five @-@ year terms , Mandela had never planned to stand for a second term in office . He gave his farewell speech to Parliament on 29 March 1999 when it adjourned prior the 1999 general elections , after which he retired . Although opinion polls in South Africa showed wavering support for both the ANC and the government , Mandela himself remained highly popular , with 80 % of South Africans polled in 1999 expressing satisfaction with his performance as president .

= = Retirement = =

Retiring in June 1999 , Mandela sought a quiet family life , to be divided between Johannesburg and Qunu . He set about authoring a sequel to his first autobiography , to be titled The Presidential Years , but it was abandoned before publication . Finding such seclusion difficult , he reverted to a busy public life with a daily programme of tasks , met with world leaders and celebrities , and , when in Johannesburg , worked with the Nelson Mandela Foundation , founded in 1999 to focus on rural development , school construction , and combating HIV / AIDS . Although he had been heavily criticised for failing to do enough to fight the HIV / AIDS pandemic during his presidency , he devoted much of his time to the issue following his retirement , describing it as " a war " that had killed more than " all previous wars " ; affiliating himself with the Treatment Action Campaign , he urged Mbeki 's government to ensure that HIV @-@ positive South Africans had access to anti @-@ retrovirals . Mandela was successfully treated for prostate cancer in July 2001 .

In 2002 , Mandela inaugurated the Nelson Mandela Annual Lecture , and in 2003 the Mandela Rhodes Foundation was created at Rhodes House , University of Oxford , to provide postgraduate scholarships to African students . These projects were followed by the Nelson Mandela Centre of Memory and the 46664 campaign against HIV / AIDS . He gave the closing address at the XIII International AIDS Conference in Durban in 2000 , and in 2004 , spoke at the XV International AIDS Conference in Bangkok , Thailand , there urging for greater measures to tackle tuberculosis as well as HIV / AIDS .

Publicly , Mandela became more vocal in criticising Western powers . He strongly opposed the 1999 NATO intervention in Kosovo and called it an attempt by the world 's powerful nations to police the entire world . In 2003 , he spoke out against the plans for the US and UK to launch a war in Iraq , describing it as " a tragedy " and lambasting US President George W. Bush and UK Prime Minister Tony Blair for undermining the UN , saying , " All that (Mr. Bush) wants is Iraqi oil " . He attacked the US more generally , asserting that it had committed more " unspeakable atrocities " across the world than any other nation , citing the atomic bombing of Japan ; this attracted international controversy , although he later reconciled his relationship with Blair . Retaining an interest in Libyan @-@ UK relations , he visited Megrahi in Barlinnie prison and spoke out against the conditions of his treatment , referring to them as " psychological persecution " .

= = = " Retiring from retirement " : 2004 ? 13 = = =

In June 2004 , aged 85 and amid failing health , Mandela announced that he was " retiring from retirement " and retreating from public life , remarking , " Don 't call me , I will call you . " Although continuing to meet with close friends and family , the Foundation discouraged invitations for him to appear at public events and denied most interview requests .

He retained some involvement in international affairs . In 2005 , he founded the Nelson Mandela Legacy Trust , travelling to the U.S. to speak before the Brookings Institution and the NAACP on the need for economic assistance to Africa . He spoke with U.S. Senator Hillary Clinton and President George W. Bush and first met then @-@ U.S. Senator Barack Obama . Mandela also encouraged Zimbabwean President Robert Mugabe to resign over growing human rights abuses in the country .

When this proved ineffective , he spoke out publicly against Mugabe in 2007 , asking him to step down " with residual respect and a modicum of dignity . " That year , Mandela , Machel , and Desmond Tutu convened a group of world leaders in Johannesburg to contribute their wisdom and independent leadership to some of the world 's toughest problems . Mandela announced the formation of this new group , The Elders , in a speech delivered on his 89th birthday .

Mandela 's 90th birthday was marked across the country on 18 July 2008 , with the main celebrations held at Qunu , and a concert in his honour in Hyde Park , London . In a speech marking the event , Mandela called for the rich to help the poor across the world . Throughout Mbeki 's presidency , Mandela continued to support the ANC , usually overshadowing Mbeki at any public events that the two attended . Mandela was more at ease with Mbeki 's successor Jacob Zuma , although the Nelson Mandela Foundation were upset when his grandson , Mandla Mandela , flew him out to the Eastern Cape to attend a pro @-@ Zuma rally in the midst of a storm in 2009 .

In 2004 , Mandela successfully campaigned for South Africa to host the 2010 FIFA World Cup , declaring that there would be " few better gifts for us " in the year marking a decade since the fall of apartheid . Mandela emotionally raised the FIFA World Cup Trophy after South Africa was awarded host status . Despite maintaining a low profile during the event due to ill @-@ health , Mandela made his final public appearance during the World Cup closing ceremony , where he received a " rapturous reception " . Between 2005 and 2013 , Mandela , and later his family , were embroiled in a series of legal disputes regarding money held in family trusts for the benefit of his descendants . In mid @-@ 2013 , as Mandela was hospitalised for a lung infection in Pretoria , his descendants were involved in an intra @-@ family legal dispute relating to the burial place of Mandela 's children , and ultimately Mandela himself .

= = = Illness and death : 2011 ? 2013 = = =

In February 2011 , Mandela was briefly hospitalised with a respiratory infection , attracting international attention , before being re @-@ hospitalised for a lung infection and gallstone removal in December 2012 . After a successful medical procedure in early March 2013 , his lung infection recurred and he was briefly hospitalised in Pretoria . In June 2013 , his lung infection worsened and he was rehospitalised in Pretoria in a serious condition . Cape Town Archbishop Thabo Makgoba visited Mandela at the hospital and prayed with Machel , while Zuma cancelled a trip to Mozambique to visit him the following day . In September 2013 , Mandela was discharged from hospital , although his condition remained unstable .

After suffering from a prolonged respiratory infection , Mandela died on 5 December 2013 at the age of 95 , at around 20 : 50 local time (UTC + 2) at his home in Houghton , surrounded by his family . Zuma publicly announced his death on television , proclaiming ten days of national mourning , a memorial service held at Johannesburg 's FNB Stadium on 10 December 2013 , and 8 December as a national day of prayer and reflection . Mandela 's body lay in state from 11 to 13 December at the Union Buildings in Pretoria and a state funeral was held on 15 December in Qunu . Approximately 90 representatives of foreign states travelled to South Africa to attend memorial events . Images of and tributes to Mandela proliferated across social media . His $ 4 @. @ 1 million estate was left to his widow , other family members , staff , and educational institutions .

= = Political ideology = =

Mandela was a practical politician , rather than an intellectual scholar or political theorist . According to biographer Tom Lodge , " for Mandela , politics has always been primarily about enacting stories , about making narratives , primarily about morally exemplary conduct , and only secondarily about ideological vision , more about means rather than ends . " Mandela identified as both an African nationalist , an ideological position he held since joining the ANC , and a democratic socialist . He advocated the ultimate establishment of a classless society , with Sampson describing him as " openly opposed to capitalism , private land @-@ ownership and the power of big money " .

Mandela was influenced by Marxism , and during the revolution he advocated scientific socialism .

During the Treason Trial , he denied being a communist , maintaining this stance when later talking to journalists . Conversely , biographer David Jones Smith stated that Mandela " embraced communism and communists " in the late 1950s and early 1960s , while historian Stephen Ellis found evidence that Mandela had been an active member of the South African Communist Party (SACP) . This was confirmed after his death by the SACP and the ANC . According to the SACP , he was not only a member of the party , but also served on the party 's Central Committee .

The 1955 Freedom Charter , which Mandela had helped create , called for the nationalisation of banks , gold mines and land , believing this necessary to ensure equal distribution of wealth . Despite these beliefs , Mandela initiated a programme of privatisation during his presidency in line with trends in other countries of the time . It has been repeatedly suggested that Mandela would have preferred to develop a social democratic economy in South Africa but that this was not feasible as a result of the international political and economic situation during the early 1990s . This decision was in part influenced by the fall of the socialist states in the Soviet Union and Eastern Bloc during the early 1990s . In contrast , China was developing rapidly within a " socialist market economy " and Mandela began to quote Deng Xiaoping 's aphorism , " It doesn 't matter whether a cat is black or white , so long as it catches mice . "

Over the course of his life , he began by advocating a path of non @-@ violence , later embracing violence , and then adopting a non @-@ violent approach to negotiation and reconciliation . When endorsing violence , he did so because he saw no alternative , and was always pragmatic about it , perceiving it as a means to get his opponent to the negotiating table .

Mandela took political ideas from other thinkers , among them Indian independence leaders like Gandhi and Nehru , African @-@ American activists , and African nationalists like Nkrumah , and fitted them into the South African situation . At the same time he rejected other aspects of their thought , such as the anti @-@ white sentiment of many African nationalists . He also synthesized both counter @-@ cultural and hegemonic views , for instance by drawing upon ideas from Afrikaner nationalism . Although he presented himself in an autocratic manner in several speeches , he was a devout believer in democracy and abided by majority decisions even when deeply disagreeing with them . His political thought nevertheless exhibited tensions between his support for liberal democracy and pre @-@ colonial African forms of consensus decision making . He held a conviction that " inclusivity , accountability and freedom of speech " were the fundamentals of democracy , and was driven by a belief in natural and human rights , pursuing not only racial equality but also promoting gay rights as part of the post @-@ apartheid reforms . His political development was strongly influenced by his legal training and practice , in particular his hope to achieve change not through violence but through " legal revolution " .

= = Personality and personal life = =

Mandela was widely considered a charismatic leader , with biographer Mary Benson describing him as having been " a born mass leader who could not help magnetizing people " . He was highly image conscious and throughout his life always sought out fine quality clothes , with many commentators believing that he carried himself in a regal manner . His aristocratic heritage was repeatedly emphasised by supporters , thus contributing to his " charismatic power " . While living in Johannesburg in the 1950s , he cultivated the image of the " African gentleman " , having " the pressed clothes , correct manners , and modulated public speech " associated with such a position . In doing so , Lodge argued that Mandela became " one of the first media politicians [...] embodying a glamour and a style that projected visually a brave new African world of modernity and freedom " . In the 1990s , he came to be associated closely with the highly coloured " Madiba shirts " that he began wearing .

His official biographer , Anthony Sampson , commented that he was a " master of imagery and performance " , excelling at presenting himself well in press photographs and producing sound bites . His public speeches were presented in a formal , stiff manner , and often consisted of clichéd set phrases . Although not considered a great orator , his speeches conveyed " his personal commitment , charm and humour " . In describing his life , Mandela stated , " I was not a messiah , but an ordinary man who had become a leader because of extraordinary circumstances . "

Mandela was a private person who often concealed his emotions and confided in very few people . Privately , he lived an austere life , refusing to drink alcohol or smoke , and even as President made his own bed . Renowned for his mischievous sense of humour , he was known for being both stubborn and loyal , and at times exhibited a quick temper . He was typically friendly and welcoming , and appeared relaxed in conversation with everyone , including his opponents . Constantly polite and courteous , he was attentive to all , irrespective of their age or status , and often talked to children or servants . He was known for his ability to find common ground with very different communities . In later life , he always looked for the best in people , even defending political opponents to his allies , who sometimes thought him too trusting of others . He was raised in the Methodist denomination of Christianity , with the Methodist Church of Southern Africa claiming that he retained his allegiance to them throughout his life . An analysis of his writings have led to him being described by theologian Dion Forster as a Christian humanist , who relied more upon Ubuntu than Christian theology . According to Sampson , Mandela however never had " a strong religious faith " , while Boehmer stated that Mandela 's religious belief was " never robust " . He was fond of Indian cuisine , and had a lifelong interest in archaeology and boxing .

Mandela was heterosexual , with biographer Fatima Meer stating that he was " easily tempted " by women . Another biographer , Martin Meredith , characterised him as being " by nature a romantic " , highlighting that he had relationships with various women . Mandela was married three times , fathered six children , and had seventeen grandchildren and at least seventeen great @-@ grandchildren . He could be stern and demanding of his children , although he was more affectionate with his grandchildren . His first marriage was to Evelyn Ntoko Mase in October 1944 ; they divorced after 13 years in 1957 under the multiple strains of his adultery and constant absences , devotion to revolutionary agitation , and the fact that she was a Jehovah 's Witness , a religion requiring political neutrality . The couple had two sons whom Mandela survived , Madiba " Thembi " Thembekile (1945 ? 1969) and Makgatho Mandela (1950 ? 2005) ; his first son died in a car crash and his second son died of AIDS . The couple had two daughters , both named Makaziwe Mandela (born 1947 and 1954) ; the first died at the age of nine months , the second , known as " Maki " , survived Mandela . Makgatho 's son , Mandla Mandela , became chief of the Mvezo tribal council in 2007 . Mandela 's second wife , Winnie Madikizela @-@ Mandela , also came from the Transkei area , although they too met in Johannesburg , where she was the city 's first black social worker . They had two daughters , Zenani and Zindzi . In 1995 , he divorced Winnie , and married Graça Machel on his 80th birthday in 1998 .

= = Reception and legacy = =

By the time of his death , within South Africa Mandela was widely considered both " the father of the nation " and " the founding father of democracy " . Outside of South Africa , he was a " global icon " , with the scholar of South African studies Rita Barnard describing him as " one of the most revered figures of our time " . One biographer considered him " a modern democratic hero " , while his popularity had resulted in a cult of personality building up around him . He is often cited alongside Gandhi and Martin Luther King , Jr. as one of the 20th century 's exemplary anti @-@ racist and anti @-@ colonial leaders . Boehmer described him as " a totem of the totemic values of our age : toleration and liberal democracy " and " a universal symbol of social justice " .

Mandela 's international fame had emerged during his incarceration in the 1980s , when he became the world 's most famous prisoner , a symbol of the anti @-@ apartheid cause , and an icon for millions who embraced the ideal of human equality . In 1986 , Mandela biographer Mary Benson characterised him as " the embodiment of the struggle for liberation " in South Africa . Meredith stated that in becoming " a potent symbol of resistance " to apartheid during the 1980s , he had gained " mythical status " internationally . Sampson commented that even during his life , this myth had become " so powerful that it blurs the realities " , converting Mandela into " a secular saint " . Within a decade of the end of his Presidency , Mandela 's era was being widely thought of as " a golden age of hope and harmony " , with much nostalgia being expressed for it . Across the world , Mandela earned international acclaim for his activism in overcoming apartheid and fostering racial reconciliation , coming to be viewed as " a moral authority " with a great " concern for truth " .

Mandela generated controversy throughout his career as an activist and politician , having detractors on both the radical left and right . Some voices in the ANC accused him of selling out for agreeing to enter negotiations with the apartheid government . Concerns were raised that the personal respect and authority he accrued were in contrast to the ideals of democracy that he promoted . His government would be criticised for its failure to deal with the HIV / AIDS pandemic , and to promote an economic model that benefited South Africa 's poor . During the 1980s , Mandela was widely labelled a terrorist by prominent political figures in the Western world for his embrace of political violence . Thatcher attracted international attention for describing the ANC as " a typical terrorist organisation " in 1987 , although she later called on Botha to release Mandela . Mandela has also been criticised for his friendship with political leaders such as Castro , Gaddafi , and Suharto ? deemed dictators by critics ? as well as his refusal to condemn their human rights violations .

On 16 December 2013 , the Day of Reconciliation , a nine @-@ metre @-@ high , bronze statue of Mandela was unveiled at the Union Buildings by President Jacob Zuma . In 1993 , he received the joint Nobel Peace Prize with de Klerk . In November 2009 , the United Nations General Assembly proclaimed Mandela 's birthday , 18 July , as " Mandela Day " , marking his contribution to the anti @-@ apartheid struggle . It called on individuals to donate 67 minutes to doing something for others , commemorating the 67 years that Mandela had been a part of the movement .

Awarded the US Presidential Medal of Freedom and appointment to the Order of Canada , he was also the first living person to be made an honorary Canadian citizen . In 1990 , he received the Bharat Ratna Award from the Government of India , and in 1992 received Pakistan 's Nishan @-@ e @-@ Pakistan . The same year , he was awarded the Atatürk Peace Award by Turkey ; he at first refused the award , citing human rights violations committed by Turkey at the time , but later accepted the award in 1999 . Queen Elizabeth II appointed him as a Bailiff Grand Cross of the Order of St. John (upon the recommendation of the order 's Honours and Awards Committee) and granted him membership in the Order of Merit (a personal gift of the monarch) .

= = = Biographies and popular media = = =

The first biography of Mandela was authored by Mary Benson , based on brief interviews with him that she had conducted in the 1960s . Two authorised biographies were later produced by friends of Mandela . The first was Fatima Meer 's Higher Than Hope , which was heavily influenced by Winnie and thus placed great emphasis on Mandela 's family . The second was Anthony Sampson 's Mandela , published in 1999 . Other biographies included Martin Meredith 's Mandela , first published in 1997 , and Tom Lodge 's Mandela , brought out in 2006 .

Since the late 1980s , Mandela 's image began to appear on a proliferation of items , among them " photographs , paintings , drawings , statues , public murals , buttons , t @-@ shirts , refrigerator magnets , and more " , items that have been characterised as " Mandela kitsch " . Following his death , there appeared many internet memes featuring images of Mandela with his inspirational quotes superimposed onto them .
