Kinský joined FC Slovan Liberec in 1998 , reaching the final of the 1998 ? 99 Czech Cup in his first season . In the summer of 1999 Kinský broke his thumb , resultantly not playing for the autumn half of the 1999 ? 2000 season and subsequently sharing goalkeeping duties with Zbyn?k Hauzr in the spring . Liberec finished the season by winning the 1999 ? 2000 Czech Cup .

In July 2000 , Kinský was diagnosed with infectious mononucleosis , receiving treatment at the St?e?ovice military hospital in Prague and resultantly being unable to play in the autumn part of the 2000 ? 01 season . The following season , he recorded consecutive clean sheets at the beginning of the campaign . Liberec went on to reach the quarter finals of the 2001 ? 02 UEFA Cup and won the 2001 ? 02 Gambrinus liga .

During a UEFA Cup match in the Georgian capital of Tbilisi in October 2002 , Kinský was targeted by bottles thrown onto the pitch from the crowd as the home team was defeated 1 ? 0 in the match and 4 ? 2 on aggregate . Three policemen were injured in the incident . He played in goal in a 4 ? 0 league defeat against Viktoria ?i?kov in October 2002 , a game he described as " probably the worst match in my life . " November 2002 was more successful for Kinský as he saved two penalties in a UEFA Cup penalty shootout , after the second round tie against Ipswich Town had ended level after extra time . Resultantly Liberec qualified for the third round of the competition , although Kinský missed both matches against Panathinaikos due to injury . Kinský 's contract at Liberec was due to expire in the summer of 2004 and he failed to agree a contract extension with the club during the 2003 ? 04 season . He left having made a total of 137 appearances in the top division of Czech football .
