

= Athlete not required to compete in round ; SDP =
Decision by sudden death point

= = Weightlifting = =

Five Egyptian men , Ahmed Saad , Mohamed Abdelbaki , Ibrahim Ramadan , Ragab Abdelhay , and Tarek Yehia , qualified for the Olympic weightlifting tournament by ranking seventh overall after the 2010 and 2011 World Weightlifting Championships , and three women , Esmat Mansour , Abeer Abdelrahman , and Nahla Ramadan , by ranking fourteenth . For the women , Ramadan , a gold medalist at the 2003 World Weightlifting Championships and the 2011 Pan Arab Games , bronze medalist at the 2002 World Championships , and veteran of the 75 kg class at the 2004 Summer Olympics , finished fifth in the + 75 kg class . Abdelrahman , another gold medalist from the 2011 Pan Arab Games and veteran of the 69 kg class at the 2008 Summer Olympics , was fifth in the 75 kg division . Mansour , contesting the 69 kg class , was ninth in her event .

For the men , Yehia , a silver medalist at the 2011 Pan Arab Games , bronze medalist at the 2010 World Championships , and veteran of the 69 kg class at the 2008 Summer Olympics , had the nation 's best result , with a fourth @-@ place finish in the 85 kg division . His countryman Abdelhay , the gold medalist from the 2011 Pan Arab Games , was sixth in the same event . Saad , a silver medalist at the 2011 Pan Arab Games who had taken part in the 56 kg class at the 2004 Summer Olympics , was ninth in the 62 kg event . Abdelbaki , another gold medalist from the 2011 Pan Arab Games and a veteran of the 62 kg event at the 2008 Summer Olympics , was tenth in the 69 kg class , while Ramadan , also a gold medalist at the 2011 Pan Arab Games , was fifth in the 77kg event .

Men

Women