SR 822 starts at 7th Street on University Boulevard , where it immediately meets US 22 east at an interchange with on- / off @-@ ramps . SR 822 then passes through 6th Street , before ending at SR 7 at a T @-@ intersection , which later becomes concurrent with US 22 .

Around 11 @,@ 580 vehicles use the route on average each day . The connector is part of the expanded National Highway System . SR 822 has open fields and ramps north of it , and businesses south of it .

= = History = =

SR 822 was designated in 1990 as US 22 's alignment was moved to the Veterans Memorial Bridge from Fort Steuben Bridge . Traffic began to drop as the structure of the bridge deteriorated , and the weight limit was lowered in 2004 . The Fort Steuben Bridge was closed in 2009 , a few years after plans of closure and demolition were announced . It was closed due to deteriorating conditions and limited use . The Ohio Department of Transportation (ODOT) created a temporary eastern terminus for the route at the north end of the SR 7 / 822 concurrency , where the bridge approach ramps began . The eastern terminus was changed to the south end of the SR 7 / 822 concurrency in 2013 .
