

= Ray Kennedy =

Raymond Kennedy ( born 28 July 1951 ) is an English former footballer who won every domestic honour in the game with Arsenal and Liverpool in the 1970s and early 1980s . Kennedy played as a forward for Arsenal , and then played as a left @-@ sided midfielder for Liverpool . He scored 148 goals in 581 league and cup appearances in a 15 @-@ year career in the Football League , and also won 17 caps for England between 1976 and 1980 , scoring three international goals .

Born and raised in former pit village Seaton Delaval , he spent a year at Port Vale as a schoolboy , before returning to Northumberland to work in a sweet factory after he was released at the age of 16 . He was then spotted playing for New Hartley Juniors by Arsenal , and went on to turn professional at the club in November 1968 . He made his first team debut ten months later , and went on to win the Inter @-@ Cities Fairs Cup in 1970 , the First Division and FA Cup Double in 1970 ? 71 , and then play on the losing side in the 1972 FA Cup Final . His form then declined , and he was sold to Liverpool for a club record £ 200 @,@ 000 fee in July 1974 , at the same time that Bill Shankly resigned as manager . He initially struggled at the club , but after manager Bob Paisley converted him to a left @-@ sided midfielder he went on to help Liverpool to become the dominant club of English football from 1975 to 1982 . During his time at the club Liverpool won the First Division five times ( 1975 ? 76 , 1976 ? 77 , 1978 ? 79 , 1979 ? 80 , and 1981 ? 82 ) , the FA Charity Shield four times ( 1976 , 1977 , 1979 , and 1980 ) , the European Cup three times , ( 1977 , 1978 , and 1981 ) , and the UEFA Cup ( 1976 ) , UEFA Super Cup ( 1977 ) , and League Cup ( 1981 ) . He also picked up runners @-@ up medals in the FA Cup ( 1977 ) , UEFA Super Cup ( 1978 ) , League Cup ( 1981 ) , and World Club Championship ( 1981 ) , and won the Match of the Day 's Goal of the Season award in 1977 ? 78 .

He joined Swansea City for a £ 160 @,@ 000 fee in January 1982 , and added a Welsh Cup winners medal to his collection four months later . However the effects of Parkinson 's disease began to reduce his effectiveness on the pitch , and he dropped into the Fourth Division with Hartlepool United in November 1983 . During the 1984 ? 85 season he spent a brief time as player @-@ manager of Cyprus club Pezoporikos and later played for Northern League club Ashington . He was diagnosed with Parkinson 's disease in November 1984 . His life after football was tough , as he had to deal with the effects of Parkinson 's , the loss of his business , and the breakdown of his 15 @-@ year marriage . He remained reliant on charity to fund his medical expenses , and was forced to sell his medal collection and caps in 1993 .

He was a strong player with an excellent first touch , intelligence , and all round ability . This allowed him to transition from a forward to a midfielder during his time at Liverpool . Despite his trophy successes with Arsenal and Liverpool , after winning six caps for the England under @-@ 23 side he was unable to translate his club form into a good international career , and was used as a stand @-@ in for Trevor Brooking before he retired from international football in frustration in March 1981 . His only international tournament appearance was at Euro 1980 . Bob Paisley described him as " one of Liverpool 's greatest players and probably the most underrated " .

Ray Kennedy was born on 28 July 1951 in Seaton Delaval , a former pit village in Northumberland , to Martin and Veronica Kennedy , a coal miner and housewife respectively . He was the eldest of four children : Trevor , Michael , and Janet . He was spotted playing schoolboy football by a scout at Port Vale , and began training at Vale Park after manager Stanley Matthews came to the Kennedy home to persuade him to sign schoolboy forms at the club . However at the age of sixteen Matthews felt Kennedy was " too slow to be a footballer " . Kennedy was considered to be too big and clumsy to be a professional , and groundskeeper Dennis Dawson claimed that he was the only man at the club to see any potential in the youngster . Dawson also told how Kennedy was released by the club after he was told : " You will never make a pro as long as you have got a hole in your arse ! " . Kennedy returned to his native north @-@ east in March 1967 and started working in a sweet factory whilst playing as an amateur for New Hartley Juniors , where he built a successful attacking partnership with former England schoolboy international Ian Watts . The pair scored 142 goals between them , and helped the club to win the East Northumberland Junior League , the Northumberland FA Junior Cup , the East Northumberland Junior League Cup , the North East Youth Challenge Cup , the East Northumberland Junior League Charlton Trophy , the Tynemouth Junior League Challenge Cup and the Magpie Trophy .

= = = Arsenal = = =

Kennedy was spotted by Arsenal playing for New Hartley Juniors , and though the scouts had initially gone to the game to watch his striker partner Watts , Kennedy had impressed enough to win an apprentice contract with Arsenal in May 1968 . He then signed professional forms with the club in November 1968 . He had a difficult task though to win a first team place , as manager Bertie Mee used only 15 players throughout the entire 1968 ? 69 season , during which time Kennedy made 20 appearances for the Reserve team as they claimed the Football Combination Division One title .

He made his first team debut on 29 September 1969 , against Glentoran in the Inter @-@ Cities Fairs Cup . He made his First Division debut as a substitute on 18 October , a 1 ? 1 draw with Sunderland at Roker Park . He scored his first goal for the Gunners in the reverse fixture against Sunderland at Highbury , which ended in a 3 ? 1 win . He went on to appear as a 77th minute substitute in the first leg of the Inter @-@ Cities Fairs Cup final against Belgian club Anderlecht at Constant Vanden Stock Stadium , and scored a late goal in a 3 ? 1 defeat . Though he did not appear in the second leg , his goal proved to be decisive as Arsenal claimed a 4 ? 3 aggregate victory to win the first European trophy in the club 's history .

Charlie George broke his ankle on the opening game of the 1970 ? 71 season , and Kennedy replaced him as John Radford 's strike partner for the following game , and went on to feature in the remaining league fixtures of the campaign as Arsenal went on to be crowned champions . They exited the Inter @-@ Cities Fairs Cup with defeat to German side 1 . FC Köln at the quarter @-@ final stage , though after their draw with Lazio in the First Round Kennedy was attacked by some of the Lazio players in an Italian restaurant , and in the ensuing brawl police pulled a gun on teammate Eddie Kelly ; Kennedy later said he was targeted by the Lazio players due to his " cheeky face " . Back in the league , Kennedy scored his first hat @-@ trick in victory over Nottingham Forest , though Kennedy admitted after the match that " I am still expecting to be dropped any minute " . Arsenal overtook Leeds United to win the league title on the final day of the season , Kennedy scoring the only goal of the game with a late header in a 1 ? 0 victory over North London derby rivals Tottenham Hotspur at White Hart Lane . The Sun 's Peter Batt wrote that it was " one of the most dramatic goals in the history of the Football League " . In the FA Cup , Arsenal progressed past Yeovil Town , Portsmouth ( following a replay ) , Manchester City , Leicester City ( following a replay ) , and Stoke City ( following a replay ) , before meeting Liverpool in the final at Wembley Stadium . Liverpool led early in extra @-@ time , but goals from Kelly and George won the game for Arsenal and secured only the fourth Double in English football . Kennedy had missed a number of good chances throughout the match , though he later pointed out that " nobody really remembers anything bad if you win " .

Arsenal endured a poor start to the 1971 ? 72 season , and as a result Mee purchased Alan Ball , Jr. from Everton for £ 220 @,@ 000 . They went on to go 14 games unbeaten over the winter , closing the gap on leaders Manchester City to four points . They were knocked out of the European Cup at the quarter @-@ final stage by eventual winners Ajax . They ended the season in fifth place , and gifted Derby County the league title by denying Liverpool what would have proved to be a decisive victory on the penultimate day of the season . Arsenal returned to Wembley to defend the FA Cup , but lost 1 ? 0 to Leeds United ; Kennedy had lost his first team place late in the season after fatigue began to affect his form , and was only named as a substitute for the final before he came on for Radford after 73 minutes . Kennedy scored 19 goals in 55 appearances to finish as the club 's top goalscorer for the second successive season .

He struggled at the start of the 1972 ? 73 season , his confidence and form suffered as defenders marked him more closely and poor diet saw his weight rise to over 14 stone . Captain Frank McLintock remarked to the management that Kennedy was only operating at 60 % capacity , and Kennedy was fined £ 200 before he began to shed weight and rediscover his form . Arsenal finished the season in second place , and he scored just nine league goals throughout the campaign . Arsenal reached the semi @-@ finals of the FA Cup , where they were beaten by Sunderland .

Arsenal dropped into mid @-@ table throughout the 1973 ? 74 season , with McIntock 's departure signalling the demise of the Double @-@ winning team . Kennedy failed to score from 6 October to mid @-@ January , and speculation rose of possible moves to Sunderland , Newcastle United , or Aston Villa . In February , he released a statement saying that " my game has gone downhill since I got married but has started to pick up again now I am in bachelordom ... I feel that I am better off without her " . He ended the season in good form , though Mee had already decided to move him on and replace him with Brian Kidd .

" I couldn 't believe it when he left and felt it was a great shame to have broken up our partnership which had wobbled slightly but which I was sure would come together again with a little time . "

= = = Liverpool = = =

In July 1974 , Kennedy was sold to Liverpool for a club record £ 200 @, @ 000 . Manager Bill Shankly resigned on the same day as the transfer was made , though had admired Kennedy for years and stated that " maybe it will be said that one of the last things I did at this club was to sign a great new player " . Shortly after the move Kennedy got back in touch with his estranged wife , and the pair began living together in Ainsdale . New manager Bob Paisley handed Kennedy his debut in place of John Toshack against Chelsea at Stamford Bridge on 31 August 1974 , and it took Kennedy just 22 minutes to open his goalscoring account as the Reds went on to record a comfortable 3 ? 0 win . Liverpool ended the 1974 ? 75 season as runners @-@ up to Derby County in the league . Kennedy featured just 25 times in the league as Toshack formed an effective combination with Kevin Keegan up front , and started to become frustrated and disillusioned in the club .

The emergence of Liverpool native Jimmy Case further reduced Kennedy 's chances of playing up front , but Paisley felt Kennedy could perform as a midfielder , and after Kennedy replaced an injured Peter Cormack against Middlesbrough on 1 November he went on to make the number five shirt his own for the rest of the decade . His new position allowed him to use his vision and distribution to create chances for his teammates , whilst still allowing him to make runs into scoring positions to add goals himself . Liverpool won the league title in 1975 ? 76 with a final day victory over Wolverhampton Wanderers to beat Queens Park Rangers into second place . They also secured the UEFA Cup , knocking out Hibernian ( Scotland ) , Real Sociedad ( Spain ) , Real Sociedad ( Poland ) , Dynamo Dresden ( Germany ) , and Barcelona ( Spain ) , before facing Belgian side Club Brugge in the final . Liverpool were losing 2 ? 0 in the first leg of the final at Anfield , before Kennedy scored the first of Liverpool 's three goals to overturn the deficit ; in the return leg at the Olympiastadion , Liverpool drew 1 ? 1 to win the tie 4 ? 3 on aggregate .

Liverpool opened the new season by claiming the 1976 FA Charity Shield with a 1 ? 0 win over Southampton , and went on to win the league largely on their home form , Kennedy 's goal in a 2 ? 1 win over title contenders Ipswich Town on 30 April proving to be decisive . Though Liverpool failed to win any of their last four league matches , they finished one point clear of Manchester City in second . Liverpool won the European Super Cup with a comprehensive 7 ? 1 victory over German club Hamburg . Liverpool also reached the 1977 FA Cup Final , but lost the chance to follow Arsenal 's feat at achieving the Double as they were beaten 2 ? 1 by bitter rivals Manchester United . In the European Cup , Liverpool beat Crusaders ( Northern Ireland ) , Trabzonspor ( Turkey ) , AS Saint @-@ Étienne ( France ) , and FC Zürich ( Switzerland ) to reach the final against German side Borussia Mönchengladbach . In the final at Rome 's Stadio Olimpico , Kennedy won a late penalty which Phil Neal converted to give Liverpool a 3 ? 1 victory .

Following a 0 ? 0 draw with Manchester United in the 1977 FA Charity Shield , a disappointing start to the 1977 ? 78 season saw Liverpool out of the title race early on whilst they exited the FA Cup at the Third Round . They did though recover to post a second @-@ place finish in the league after winning nine of their last 12 matches , to end the campaign seven points behind Nottingham Forest . They progressed to the League Cup Final after Kennedy scored the winning goal past former club Arsenal in the semi @-@ final . However Liverpool lost out 1 ? 0 to Nottingham Forest in the replay of the final at Old Trafford . Despite these domestic disappointments , Liverpool went on to reach the final of the European Cup after defeating Dynamo Dresden , Benfica ( Portugal ) , and Borussia Mönchengladbach ; Mönchengladbach manager Udo Lattek singled out Kennedy as the best player of the semi @-@ final , as Kennedy scored a goal and provided assists for both Kenny Dalglish and Jimmy Case in the second leg . In the final Liverpool faced Club Brugge at Wembley , and successfully defended the trophy after seeing out a 1 ? 0 win .

Liverpool 's chances of winning a third successive European Cup were ended with defeat to Nottingham Forest in the First Round . However they opened the league campaign with six straight wins and dominated the league by finishing eight points clear of second @-@ placed Forest , scoring 85 goals and conceding just 16 in the process . His goal against Derby County on 24 February won him Match of the Day 's Goal of the Season award . Writing in his autobiography , Paisley named the 1978 ? 79 team as the best championship team he had been associated with during his 40 years with the club . Manchester United again denied them the chance to win the Double however , as United knocked Liverpool out of the semi @-@ finals of the FA Cup following a replay at Goodison Park . Liverpool also lost the 1978 European Super Cup , following a 4 ? 3 aggregate defeat to Anderlecht .

Liverpool won the 1979 FA Charity Shield with a 3 ? 1 victory over Kennedy 's former club Arsenal , but a knee ligament injury caused Kennedy to miss a small number of games early in the season . Kennedy also felt that left @-@ back Alan Kennedy was not up to the required standard , saying " he took five years off my career ... Alan had no nerves and not much brain ... we didn 't gel on the pitch " . Alan blamed nerves for his difficulty in finding Kennedy with accurate passes . Kennedy also began to face problems off the pitch , resulting in both he and Jimmy Case being arrested after they attacked a hotelier who had confused Kennedy for his namesake Alan . The pair plead guilty to affray and were fined £ 150 each ; despite this and other similar incidents , Kennedy did manage to avoid his off field antics affecting his form or discipline on the pitch . Kennedy later said " it was a good friendship " but " we were bad for each other " . Liverpool finished two points clear of second @-@ place Manchester United in the league , with Kennedy claiming nine goals in 56 appearances . They also reached the semi @-@ finals of the FA Cup , where they were beaten by Arsenal in a replay following three draws in two replays and the original tie . In the summer Kennedy signed a new four @-@ year contract with the club .

Liverpool retained the Charity Shield by beating West Ham United 1 ? 0 , however despite only losing eight league games all season they won 17 and drew 17 of their remaining fixtures and ended the 1980 ? 81 season in fifth place , nine points behind champions Aston Villa . In the League Cup , they knocked out Bradford City , Swindon Town , Portsmouth , Birmingham City , and Manchester City to reach the final against West Ham United . They then beat West Ham 2 ? 1 in a replay of the final to claim the first League Cup in the club 's history . They also reached the European Cup final after getting past Oulun Palloseura ( Finland ) , Aberdeen ( Scotland ) , CSKA Sofia ( Bulgaria ) , and Bayern Munich ( Germany ) . In the semi @-@ final against Bayern , Kennedy was named as captain as both Graeme Souness and Phil Thompson were injured , and went on to score what proved to be the winning away goal at the Olympiastadion , cementing his reputation as a semi @-@ final specialist . Liverpool then beat Spanish club Real Madrid 1 ? 0 in a dour final to win a third European Cup .

Following the sale of Jimmy Case , Kennedy began to become disillusioned with Liverpool , and was sent off twice in the space of a few weeks early in the 1981 ? 82 season ? the first red cards of his career . He made his final league appearance for the club on 5 December , when he scored in a 2 ? 0 win over Nottingham Forest at the City Ground . His final cup game for the club came eight days later , in a 3 ? 0 defeat to Brazilian side Flamengo in the 1981 Intercontinental Cup at Tokyo 's National Stadium . He was replaced in the team by Ronnie Whelan . Liverpool went on to win the league title after finishing four points ahead of second @-@ place Ipswich Town , and Kennedy 's 15 league appearances in the first half of the campaign were enough to earn him another league championship medal . Sunderland attempted to sign him on loan in January 1982 , but were denied by Liverpool , and Kennedy could not agree personal terms with manager Alan Durban so was not signed by Sunderland on a permanent transfer .

" Ray 's contribution to Liverpool 's achievements was enormous and his consistency remarkable . So much so , in fact , that on the rare occasions he missed a match his absence was felt deeply simply because he was a midfield power house with tremendous vision and knowledge of the game ... In my view he was one of Liverpool 's greatest players and probably the most underrated . "

= = = Later career = = =

In January 1982 , Kennedy was signed by Swansea City on a four @-@ year contract for a £ 160 @,@ 000 fee to play under former team @-@ mate John Toshack . The Swans had an unsuccessful attempt to win the league title , and five defeats in their final six games saw them end up in sixth place , 17 points behind champions Liverpool . They did though win the Welsh Cup after beating South Wales derby rivals Cardiff City 2 ? 1 in the final at Vetch Field . Despite voicing his concerns over the team and his own future at the club to Toshack , Toshack appointed Kennedy as club captain for the 1982 ? 83 season . He became injured with niggling hamstring problems in mid @-@ season , and after one increasingly rare performance he was described by the local press as seemingly " unwilling to work and his usual composure on the ball was lacking " . Kennedy 's declining physical abilities were actually due to Parkinson 's disease , though he would not be diagnosed with the condition until after his retirement . Toshack stripped Kennedy of the captaincy and suspended him from Vetch Field for two weeks . He was placed on the transfer list in March 1983 , and Swansea went on to be relegated into the Second Division . The club 's financial problems worsened and players were asked to take a cut in wages to help ease the crisis , but Kennedy refused . Toshack was sacked in October 1983 and Kennedy agreed to have his contract terminated .

Kennedy signed with Mick Docherty 's Hartlepool United of the Fourth Division in November 1983 . Docherty was sacked the following month , and unsuccessfully attempted to report the club for negotiating an illegal contract with Kennedy . His assistant , Billy Horner , stepped up the manage the club for a second time in the face of a mounting financial crisis . Hartlepool were forced to apply for re @-@ election at the end of the season , and Kennedy was promoted to player @-@ coach for his help in boosting support for the club 's re @-@ election campaign . However he left Victoria Park in summer 1984 to take up the position as player @-@ manager of Cypriot side Pezoporikos . He became increasingly unable to play the game though due to his body 's physical decline , and after a poor start to the 1984 ? 85 season he returned to England in December against the board 's wishes and handed in his resignation the following month so as to run the Melton Constable public house full @-@ time . In January 1985 , he joined Northern League side Ashington , managed by former teammate Colin Todd , but could only manage six appearances after suffering from increasingly alarming stiffness in his right leg due to his worsening Parkinson 's disease . Unable to turn out for his Melton Constable Sunday League team , he soon found daily life difficult to cope with .

= = International career = =

Kennedy won six England under @-@ 23 caps , following his first appearance in a win over Wales at the County Ground on 5 January 1972 .

Don Revie gave Kennedy his first cap on 24 March 1976 in a friendly with Wales at the Racecourse Ground , Wrexham ; Kennedy scored the opening goal as England won the game 2 ? 1 . However he was never able to establish himself as England 's left @-@ sided midfielder of choice due to the form of Trevor Brooking . He played in British Home Championship games against Wales , Northern Ireland and Scotland , before he was dropped for the next seven games . He travelled with the squad for the 1977 tour of South America , and also that year claimed two more international goals in qualifying games against Luxembourg . He then dropped out of the England picture under new manager Ron Greenwood . He was named in the squad for UEFA Euro 1980 in Italy , playing against Belgium and Italy before he was dropped for England 's final group game against Spain . He retired from international football on 17 caps in March 1981 , citing dissatisfaction with the England hierarchy . Liverpool manager Bob Paisley wrote in his autobiography that " for England he [ Kennedy ] was played quite wrongly in a defensive role , being asked to pick people up . Ray closes people down by positional skill and does not need to chase around the pitch " . Kennedy stated that " I feel more pride in the red jersey of Liverpool than the white shirt of England " and that " I am resigning here and now as Greenwood 's bridesmaid " .

= = Style of play = =

Kennedy was a strong player with average speed , good technical ability , and an excellent first touch . Arsenal coach Don Howe compared Kennedy to Tommy Lawton , and stated that Kennedy had " all the hallmarks of a classical centre forward , size , strength , bravery and skill , heading ability and a powerful left foot shot " . He had a good temperament , and could not be provoked by harsh opposition challenges . A psychological examination conducted on behalf of Arsenal revealed that Kennedy rated highly for his ability to respond to coaching ; was rated above average for aggressiveness , determination , guilt @-@ proneness ( accepting responsibility for the team ) ; was scored average for drive / ambition , self @-@ confidence , emotional control , and mental toughness ; and scored below average for leadership , conscientiousness , and trust . Arsenal goalkeeper Bob Wilson noted that Kennedy " had an alarming lack of self esteem ... but there was an underlying fearsome strength , an assassin 's eye and a hard @-@ man interior " . After Liverpool manager Bob Paisley moved Kennedy into midfield , he claimed that " Ray Kennedy was born to play . A natural , great ability and an obvious Liverpool player who could be moulded . I knew he could play anywhere . " He showed very minor signs of Parkinson 's disease as early as 1970 , such as fatigue after games and slowed movement in his right arm , though it was not until 1982 that it began to have a noticeable affect on his game .

= = Later life = =

Kennedy was diagnosed with Parkinson 's disease by a specialist on 4 November 1984 . He gave permission for his image to be used to promote a public campaign to increase awareness of the disease . His involvement in the Parkinson 's Disease Society led to him meeting his childhood hero Muhammad Ali . He was also invited to do some coaching at Sunderland in the 1986 ? 87 season by manager Lawrie McMenemy , and worked as a part @-@ time coach from February to April 1987 , at which point he was promoted to first @-@ team coach .

His wife , Jennifer , left him in October 1987 after he punched her in the face and kicked her down the stairs of the family home ; this ended a difficult 15 @-@ year marriage blighted by frequent infidelity on his part . They had two children : Cara ( born July 1976 ) and Dale ( born January 1981 ) . Former Liverpool teammate Ray Clemence recalled how Kennedy " worked hard and played hard " . Other teammates Steve Heighway and Phil Thompson noted that Kennedy was a " quiet man " , though " women were always chasing after him " and " off the pitch he needed to be handled quite gently , and everything had to be organised just right otherwise there would be trouble " . Completing a bad end to 1987 , his license at the Melton Constable was revoked . His prescribed L @-@ DOPA medication also became less effective and he became increasingly isolated . His condition improved when he began injections of apomorphine . He was reliant on the Professional Footballers ' Association to pay his medical expenses , and his divorce as well as business and tax problems wiped out his savings . A testimonial game was held between Arsenal and Liverpool in April 1991 . A charity appeal was also set up to help pay his living costs . In late 1992 he began suffering from extreme paranoia , mostly due to the side effects of his medication , but regained his mental faculties following a short stay in hospital .

He published his autobiography Ray of Hope in 1993 , co @-@ authored by Dr. Andrew Lees , who at that time treated Kennedy for Parkinson 's disease . Later that year he sold his collection of medals and international caps to raise funds . In 2002 , he was reported as living alone in a bungalow in New Hartley . In an interview two years later , he revealed that he suffers from loneliness and hallucinations due to his condition and the side effects of his medication . Following the interview a Liverpool fan bought Kennedy a computer , which allowed him to make friends on football chat rooms . Kennedy remained a favourite amongst Liverpool supporters decades after leaving the club , and was voted in at No.25 on the 2013 poll ' 100 Players Who Shook The Kop ' .
